INVITATION WAS TOO BROAD

Ombudsman's investigation has started - not open to public

It could be a long time yet before the water rates are settled in Deseronto.

'Hopefully, in 16 months,' Edward Singleton, assistant director of investigations with the Ombudsman's office in Toronto, estimated at an initial meeting with town officials on Friday afternoon.

'But it could take a lot longer,' he warned.

Deseronto has called in the Ombudsman to investigate the costs consumers are having to pay for the new water service. Answers, satisfactory to the town, have not been forthcoming from the Provincial Ministry of the Environment.

'Anyone who wants to get in their two cents worth can come to the meeting with the Ombudsman's representative,' Councillor D. Martin said at last week's meeting of council. And two or three people did turn up on Friday afternoon only to be told that it was not an open meeting ... Martin had meant that any councillor could come and put in his two cents worth.

'There was no mad rush of people,' town clerk Carman Milligan said.

Not even that many members of council turned up. Mr. Singleton met with Mayor John Neal, Councillors D. Martin and A. Balmey and clerk Carman Milligan.

There had been some dispute as to whether the Ombudsman could investigate the Ministry, but the legal department of the Ombudsman's office had said he could.

'The Ombudsman is not permitted to question decisions of Cabinet,' Mr. Singleton told the Scanner before the meeting on Friday.

'I am only here to investigate,' he said. 'I have to keep secret what each side tells me. I can only disclose what is necessary to explain or support any recommendations.'

A report will go to both sides in the dispute.

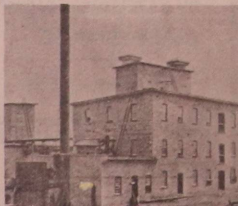

Deseronto was a major industrial centre back in the 90's

Back in 1894, before the big fire of May 1896, Deseronto was a thriving metropolis with many places of business.

Reminders of those good old days have been gathered together and are on exhibit in a specially designed show case at the Public Library, as an Industrial History Display.

A special edition of the Deseronto paper, 'The Tribune,' dated June 29, 1894, was devoted to stories and pictures of the history and the businesses in existence at that time.

'In this fair district has sprung up, during recent years, the Town of Deseronto, which already on account of the extent and variety of its manufacturing establishments and the enterprise of its people ranks among the most important towns of the great Province of Ontario,' the 1894 newspaper reports.

THE ROLLER FLOUR MILL

But it took the town about 100 years to reach the eminence it had attained by Deseronto is a Mohawk word meaning an object which has been struck by lightning, but it took the town about 100 years to reach the eminence it had attained by 1894.

After the revolutionary war in the United States, Captain John Deseronto, a Mohawk chief, led 15 canoe loads of Mohawk Indians to the reserve granted to them in the Township of Tyendinaga by George III as a reward for their loyalty to the British Government.

In 1855, one of his grandsons, John Culbertson, applied to the chiefs of that day for a grant of land on account of the services of his grandfather, and a grant of 800 acres off the east end of the reserve was made.

Culbertson built a landing in the bay which became known to travellers as Culbertson's Wharf.

In 1848, the point near the centre of the water front of the present town was sold to an American company and, for many years, the little community was known as Mill Point.

H.B. Rathbun was one of the members of the American company. He took over when the others withdrew ... and he was the builder and founder of Deseronto as a business community.

By 1894, the principle trade of Deseronto was the manufacture of lumber. The Trent, Moira, Salmon and Napanee Rivers and the various lakes with which they connected drain a large

Will CAS keep its autonomy?

A recent headline, in one of the daily newspapers, may have added some fire to the local dispute about the new pilot project for children's services in Prince Edward-Hastings.

The headline read ... 'Children's Aid Groups to lose autonomy'.

There was a lot of hassle in Prince Edward County a few months ago concerning the fact that a proposal had been made to have a pilot project for co-ordinating children's services here.

One of the objections voiced was that local groups might lose their autonomy.

'The use of the term 'losing their autonomy' in the headline is an exaggeration,' said Gerry Duda of the Ministry of Community and Social Services (COMSOC) in Belleville, Monday.

The headline appeared over a story from Canadian Press which stated that the semi-autonomous status of the province's 51 children's aid societies would end under amendments approved by a committee of the Ontario Legislature. The amendments were referred to the committee after a first reading in the legislature and would require COMSOC to prescribe, monitor and enforce standards of service and practice for the societies.

'What the regulations probably mean is that the CAS will be more closely supervised. The province will provide standards and check that they are followed. But the agency won't lose its autonomy, it will still have its own board,' Mr. Duda said. 'The basic standards will be more clear.'

How lucky can you get?

Jim Lester of Deseronto's Carload grocery store had two winning tickets in the Sept. 28 Wintario Lottery and his wife had another one.

Two of the tickets were bought in Deseronto and one in Collingwood.

Tickets numbered 56405 and 55405 from Deseronto netted $25 and $100. The Collingwood ticket, number 66405 was good for another $25.

'My wife had one of the $25 ones,' Jim said. 'I don't know what she's going to do with it but I'm buying a rod and reel with my $125.'

EDITORIAL

The Scanner has received two new releases — one from the R.R. Ins., MPP for Hastings-Peterborough and the other from the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food — regarding a grant from ARDA (Agricultural and Rural Development Agreement) of $100,000 to the Beulah Co-operative Butter and B.Q. Graphics of Madoc to help rebuild its plant which was destroyed by fire earlier this year.

Both press releases, announcing the grant, start out with the same wording — "In keeping with ARDA's long standing policy of supporting the cheddar cheese industry in Eastern Ontario..."

The Beulah Company's new 12,000 square foot building, on Highway 62, is expected to be in full production by the end of the year. It is the only manufacturing industry in Huntingdon Township and rebuilding will mean the retention of 20 jobs.

It provides an outlet for 20 million pounds of milk a year.

Let's hope the Ontario Government's "long-standing policy of supporting the cheddar cheese industry in Eastern Ontario" will cover some guarantee that the company will be able to get the milk it needs.

Still time for minor hockey players to sign up

For the past few Saturday mornings, minor hockey players have been signing up for the new season at the Deseronto Recreation Centre. But registration is down this year by about 40 players.

Deseronto's minor hockey system draws kids from Sophiasburgh, Richmond, Thurlow and Tyndinaga Townships and from the Tyndinaga Reserve.

The teams are already in practice on Saturdays but the house league games don't start officially until October 14, and there is still time for anyone interested to sign up.

Registrations will be taken Saturday mornings at the arena so all those

In August, troubled cheddar cheese plants were wondering if they would have to close because they couldn't get enough milk supplies. The problem appeared to be that farmers in Ontario want to produce more milk, cheese factories want to buy more milk and restrictions prevent them doing so.

At that time, Kenneth McKinnon, chairman of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, was quoted as saying that supplies of milk available for cheddar manufacturing in Ontario had been cut back to 51 percent of the quota established in 1968-69 and that there were only 32 cheddar cheese plants in operation compared to 91 in 1968-69.

A recent report from Agriculture Canada points out that cheddar cheese consumption declined by about one-half pound per capita to an average of 7.2 pounds in 1977 but that, to date, cheddar consumption has shown some improvement this year.

With every Canadian eating about 7 pounds of cheddar a year and with a large demand for cheddar from overseas, anything the government can do to 'support the cheddar cheese industry in Eastern Ontario' would appear to effort well spent.

interested are urged to come and enjoy the hockey season.

CAS autonomy threatened?

'Some guidelines have already been set, mostly related to residential services for children,' he said.

The Prince Edward-Hastings pilot project is getting underway now. It is in the formative stage and the community is developing a contract between the counties and the provincial government.

'The results of the pilot's development will be visible by the beginning of the new year,' Mr. Duda said.

Well, cats has been the problem this week round to our place. Don't know what's come over that woman of mine, seems she don't improve none as the gets older.

Now we've always had cats round the barn, and one in the house to keep the mice down. Some of em gets killed on the road, but we always end up with more than we need, what with cats being the way they are, and folks dropping off strays the way they do.

Anyways, the trouble started when this real pretty stray turns up. Elma led him for a couple of days and tried to find somebody to take him. Finally one of the neighbours said she would, so we figgered everything was all set. Well them she changes her mind, so Elma decides she'll keep this one.

Anyways, to make a long story short, danged if n' the neighbour woman didn't turn about and change her mind back again. By this time Elma didn't want to part with it. Anyways, finally Elma give in and takes him over next door. Couple of days later he turns up at our place again. Well, it was just like the prodigal son come home, she was that pleased to think he liked our place better. Perked her right up it did — until he peed on her pillow the other night. Reckon now we got ourselves another barn cat.

As if that weren't enough, we had more cat troubles. Elma's Aunt Sadie died a while back and left her this wing chair what's been in the family for years.

Nothing would do but we had to have it re-covered with this real fancy stuff. Well, it was done last week, and delivered back to the house and set up in the most obvious spot Elma could find for folks to admire. Trouble is, she found out cats admired it too. Our old tabby figgered this new chair was fetched in just for her. Well, seems to me Elma spent most of the weekend chasing the cat off'n that chair. Even sprayed it with some stuff what's supposed to keep cats and dogs off. Didn't work worth a darn.

She took to carrying the fly swatter with her, for swatting the cat. Even took it to bed. Last night she hears the cat sharpening her claws on the new chair and she were out of bed in a flash, fly swatter at the ready in the pitch dark. Ran into a chair she did. Now I share a bed with a pillow that still smells faintly of cats — and a wife with a black eye.

Makes you think, don't it.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP

MUSEUM MEETING

Museum officials from throughout Ontario will be meeting in Belleville from October 19 to 22 for a four-day conference at the Four Seasons Hotel.

The conference is the 7th annual meeting and Conference of the Ontario Museum Association.

market in Belleville was a big help to the strayed and lost animals in that community.

The Quinte Branch of the Ontario Humane Society moved a step closer to realization of its goal... an animal shelter for the City... by raising $4500 in a 2-day flea market. Many Prince Edward people, as well as those from Belleville contributed to the success of the sale.

FALL TRAFFIC HAZARD

Picton has passed a by-law providing that 'no person shall sweep, throw, cast, lay or deposit or direct, suffer or permit any servant, agent or employee to sweep, throw, cast, lay or deposit any ashes, garbage, dirt, stone, rubbish (INCLUDES LEAVES) or refuse of any kind whatsoever in or upon any street within the Town of Picton.

Sounds like a lot of legal gobbledegook doesn't it. But it does make sense. Kids love to jump into leaves and cover themselves up with them. A pile of leaves on the road might contain a youngster and an unsuspecting driver could run into the leaves.

REACT

Prince Edward County REACT (CB's lined up to help people in emergency situations) is going to elect officers for the new season at its next meeting.

The group is also planning to set up a new duty roster to achieve 24-hour monitoring of emergencies during the winter months. Any interested CB's are welcome.

TWO VACANCIES

At least two council seats will be contested in the Napanee municipal elections this fall.

Councillors Donald Holmes and Clayton Woodcock have moved outside the municipal boundaries and will be ineligible.

ARSONIST AT WORK

The $70,000 fire which damaged two downtown businesses in Napanee in September was deliberately set, the Ontario Fire Marshall's Office has reported.

The fire started in a vacant, unlocked apartment over the businesses.

SMALL CHANGE NOW

They're going to start issuing $1 coins in the U.S. soon...and one of the reasons is that they can be used in vending machines.

Guess their dollar isn't in much better shape than ours. With the cost of living up and the value of the dollar down, it's into the small change category now.

SCHOOL'S IN...OR OUT?

One...in Prince Edward County, members of the board of education were told that no further progress has been made in the salary negotiations with teachers...[didn't they have someone special working on this a while ago?]

Two... Teachers' professional days have started again, even though we're hardly into the new school year.

Three...the Ontario Education Relations Commission has appointed a fact finder to assist the Hastings Prince Edward Separate School Board and its teachers in their contract negotiations.

Let's hope, with all these extra activities on their minds, the teachers...and the board members...can still have some attention left to give to the kids who are supposed to be getting an education.

UNDERESTIMATED???

The Napanee Region Conservation Authority opened tenders for its new administration building and discovered that the lower of the two tenders received was in excess of available funds. Lower quote came from J.D. Coad Construction, $218,900.

The Authority got a grant of $108,000 from the Ontario government and it had been estimated that the total cost would be $200,000.

So it's back to the drawing board for the building committee to see if they can modify the plans to fit the budget.

UNRESISTABLE

Jim Lester of Carload Groceries, Deseronto, reports that his fresh produce is so irresistible that people are taking bites out of it as they go through the store.

In one basket of peaches he found four that someone had taken a good bite out of... carefully putting them back in the basket so the bites wouldn't show.

POST OFFICE WORK UNDERWAY

Three men have been hired under a Canada Works Program to carry out repairs and renovations to the two top floors of the Deseronto Post Office so they can be used as headquarters for the Sea Cadet Corps.

The work is expected to last for 13 weeks.

FESTIVE SUPPER

More than 125 people enjoyed sauerkraut, sausages, hot apple pie and cider at the special supper served at the Rose House Museum in North Marysburgh. The main course was served in the carriage house and people moved into the parlour for dessert.

The earliest settlers in Marysburgh Township included a small band of German mercenaries who set up one of the earliest German speaking settlements in Ontario. Many of the pioneer settlers are buried near the museum.

Museum curator, Mrs. Malcolm Love reported that the supper has been a popular end-of-season event for the past three years.

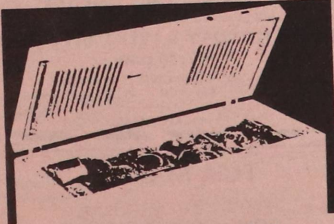

CROSS COUNTRY RACE

The Annual S.C.S. Spartan Cross Country Run will be held on Thursday, October 12th, starting at 1440 hours (2:40 p.m.). The first 8 finishers in each of the six divisions will qualify for the County Cross Country Run to be held at the Outlet Provincial Park on Wednesday, October 18th.

Once again, the event will be promoted as an opportunity to raise money to assist the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (C.N.I.B.). How? By donating 25¢ to the C.N.I.B. parents and students have a chance to win twenty free milk tickets. Simply guess the correct time difference between the race winner and Mr. Lindsay.

Sophiasburgh Over 60 Club holds tea, bazaar

The members of Sophiasburgh's Over-60 Club are a very active group. They have been in operation for a couple of years now and, in that time, they have held a number of events in addition to their regular monthly meetings — craft afternoons, card parties, and pot-luck suppers.

But their first money-making event was a tea and bazaar held last Wednesday afternoon at the Demorestville Hall.

It was a great success, Reg Ruskin, president, reported.

Tables were stacked with gift items and there was home baking for sale.

Two raffles were held. The afghan made by Kathleen Anderson was won by Laura Hambly and a doll was won by Wayne Lindsay, principal of Sophiasburgh School. His son, Billie Lindsay, made the draw.

BAHA'I FAITH

QUESTION:

Why is it necessary to believe in Baha'ullah and accept Him? Isn't it enough to believe in Christ? (Part I)

ANSWER:

It is necessary to believe in each Prophet of God when He appears. When Krishna appeared He brought the Word of God for His time and was the source of light in that day. The same was true of Moses, Zoroaster, Buddha, Jesus, Muhammad, the Bab and Baha'ullah. If man is spiritually alive he will accept each Messenger when He comes. When Christ came it was no longer sufficient to believe in Moses alone, for Christ was the latest Messenger of God's truth.

It is necessary to believe in Baha'ullah for the same reason. He brings the Message of God for today. It is the latest and fullest truth of this one great religion of God.

SESAME

Once upon a time in long-ago Persia, Ali Baba discovered that the words 'Open Sesame' were the key to untold riches. In modern-day Canada a television program with the name 'Sesame Street' has proven to be of great benefit to pre-schoolers.

From time immemorial, this little two-foot high plant has produced seeds used by generations -- from the ancient Greeks and Egyptians to this computer-age civilization -- as a food grain and as a source of oil for cooking, cosmetics, and soap.

Sprinkling sesame seeds on rolls and buns is but one way of utilizing these delicious and nutritious little grains. Of the many other ways, try these three.

SESAME-SEED COOKIES

All purpose flour, unsifted, 2 cups
White sugar, ¼ cup
Baking powder, 1½ tsp.
Salt, ¼ tsp.
Shortening, 2/3 cup
Egg yolks, 2

Milk, ¼ cup
Vanilla, 1 tsp.
Sesame seeds, 1/3 cup

— Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Grease cookie sheet.

— Into bowl, sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening with pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse crumbs.

— Add egg yolks, milk, vanilla; with fork, mix just until dough holds together. Mix with hands until smooth.

— For each cookie, shape rounded tablespoonful of dough into an oval, to resemble little loaves of bread. Roll in sesame seeds, coating completely. Place on prepared cookie sheet.

— Bake 15-20 minutes. Let cool on wire rack. Makes 2½ dozen.

SESAME BROCCOLI

Broccoli, fresh or frozen, 2 lbs.
Butter or margarine, ¼ cup
Lemon juice, 1½ tsp.
Toasted sesame seeds, 3 tpsps.
Dried basil leaves, ¼ tsp.
Salt & pepper to taste

— In a large saucepan or Dutch oven, cook broccoli in about 1 inch of salted water. Cover, leaving lid ajar, and cook until crisp-tender, about 10 to 15 mins. Drain.

— Meanwhile in a small saucepan over low heat, melt butter (or margarine). Add remaining ingredients and heat to serving temperature.

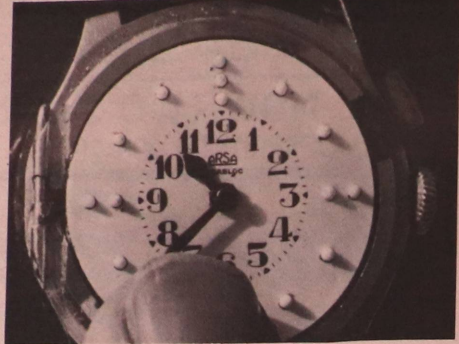

— Place drained broccoli on serving platter and pour sesame butter over it. Serves 6.

SESAME SEED FRENCH DRESSING

— In a skillet saute 1 minced garlic clove and 1 tsp. sesame seed in ½ cup vegetable oil until they are lightly browned.

— Transfer the mixture to a bowl and let it cool.

— Add 2 tpsps. wine vinegar, ¼ tsp. salt, pepper to taste, beating the dressing until it is well combined. Makes about ½ cup.

How valid is Price Indexing?

Is the Consumer Price Index (CPI) a valid standard in determining wage level increases?, or is it creating more problems in the long run than it solves?

A rapidly rising CPI, basically related to high food prices this summer, has created additional problems in establishing wage levels at a time when the Anti-Inflation Board is winding down its activities.

While it is obvious that wage levels must be adjusted to compensate for inflation, reliance on the CPI as a valid yardstick for making such adjustments can lead to unnecessarily high employee demands.

The Graphic Arts Industries Association has provided the Scanner with some background on this controversy. The information is contained in a paper prepared by A. Sinclair Abell, a Canadian economist, who developed it for salary negotiations with Ottawa's secondary school teachers. Mr. Abell is a former Chief Economic Advisor to the Deputy Minister of Finance and an elected school trustee.

The Consumer Price Index is an index of the price changes of hundreds of goods and services weighted according to the pattern of family expenditure indicated by a 1967 family expenditure survey for families with incomes between $4,000 and $12,000 in urban centres of more than 30,000 population. Mr. Abell pointed out.

The survey indicated that, in 1967, on average, out of each dollar of family expenditure, 24,800 cents was spent on food, 31,391 for housing, including shelter and household operation, 11,263 for clothing, 15,179 for transportation, 4,5114 for health and personal care, 6,8855 for recreation and 5,9630 for tobacco and alcohol.

The basic argument against adjusting salaries on the basis of a full cost of living increase as indicated by the CPI, he said, is that it is inflationary. To use an obvious and dramatic example, the quadrupling of world oil prices in 1973-74 meant a lowering of the standard of living of those who must consume oil. Consumers of oil must either use less oil or less of a number of other things or both. You can't change the reality of this situation by simply increasing incomes without a corresponding increase in the supply of goods and services because the increased money will only result in bidding up the prices of all goods and services.

The second objection is that the concept that we should hitch wages to the cost of a constant basket of goods and services is ridiculous. There is a wide range of substitutability within the basket. If beef is relatively expensive, people switch to other meats.

Mr. Abell's third objection is that the CPI contains a substantial tax element which it is quite wrong to confuse with inflation. Concerning property tax, for example, he points out that it really is rather ironic that the 64% increase in Ottawa school taxes in the last three years is part of the rise in CPI which again induces increases in teacher's salaries when those very salary increases were the prime cause of the tax increase.

The fourth objection is that since the CPI adjustment is the same percentage for all income levels, it produces much larger increases for those at the higher salary levels even though their expenditures are no greater.

The CPI, he contends, is at best a defective and inflationary mechanism for adjusting salaries to maintain purchasing power. And, it is not rational to use it as an automatic mechanism of salary adjustment without any regard for the basic salary determinants of demand and supply.

Another point, he brings up, is that no one has the right to expect that a given level of income will be automatically and artificially escalated, if the employer is not in a position to meet the higher costs. Not all employers are in a position to guarantee their workers protection against erosion of their real incomes.

work is expedited and the cost of manufacture lessened," the Tribune article reports. The Rathbun Company have solved the problem of utilizing to advantage all the refuse lumber, sawdust, etc. of their mill. In doing this they have established various industries subsidiary to the manufacture of lumber.

There was a large sash and door factory... the terra cotta works, first of its kind in Canada, which used sawdust from the mill, the chemical works which used coarse woods of the forest, converting them to charcoal. Gases and vapours from its 20 large kilns were used for large-scale wood distillation. Wood alcohol, pyroigneous acid, creosote, cedar oil, acetates of lime, etc. were evolved for domestic and foreign markets.

There were also locomotive and machine shops, a large flour mill and the Rathbun works.

Deseronto was also the centre of a fishing industry. Fish were brought here, sorted, packed and sent out by steamers or by rail.

The industrial display at the Deseronto Public Library includes, a dish from the old glassworks where they made a lot of cut crystal, the Rathbun Company stamp, envelope and copies of catalogue pages, terra cotta from the Rathbun factory, a photo of an old jug from J.P. Madigan's wine and spirits, Deseronto's town seal and many other items of interest.

If your Canada Savings Bonds mature this year

Now's the time to reinvest in new Canada Savings Bonds

Here are three easy steps to keep your money working for you.

1 Locate and identify your bonds

Two Series of Canada Savings Bonds mature this Fall:

1969/70 Series (S24) maturing November 1, 1978.

1968 Special Replacement Series (SR) maturing October 1, 1978.

Look for "S24" or "SR" preceding the serial number on the corner of your maturing bonds.

2 Find out the cash value of your bonds

At maturity, every holder of "S24" or "SR" bonds will receive the face value shown on the bond, plus a special cash bonus payment and any interest payable on the bonds.

If you have any questions about the value of your bonds, just ask the person where you bank or invest.

3 Special arrangements make it easy to reinvest

Simply present your "S24" and "SR" Series Canada Savings Bonds to your bank or other authorized redemption agent. All the paperwork in connection with the redemption of your bonds will be done for you at that time. For "S24" bonds the transfer of funds will take place automatically on November 1.

In the same transaction, you can sign up for the new 1978/79 Series Canada Savings Bonds. You may reinvest all proceeds from your maturing bonds in the new Series.

Also, you may buy an additional amount up to $30,000, the purchase limit of the 1978/79 Series. It's a great way to keep your money working for you!

Act now

There are more than 900,000 Canadians who own maturing bonds. If you are one of them, go to your bank, investment dealer, trust company or credit union and make arrangements to reinvest in the new Canada Savings Bonds. Do it now and avoid the rush!

New Canada Savings Bonds offer you a great choice

With the new Series, you have a choice of bonds. There's a Regular Interest Bond that pays interest each year. And a Compound Interest Bond that reinvests your interest automatically, earning interest on your interest.

The Regular Interest Bond

If you want a regular annual income from your investment, you'll like the Regular Interest Bond which pays interest automatically each November 1.

If you're like many bondholders, you'll appreciate the direct deposit feature. With this convenient option, your interest is deposited directly into your chequing or savings account. Simply ask for it when you buy your new bonds. Or, you can receive your interest by cheque through the mail.

The Compound Interest Bond

If you seek savings growth, or an investment for the future, or a retirement fund, you'll choose the Compound Interest Bond which earns interest on your interest, after the first year, at the guaranteed annual rate of 8.90%. For example, a $100 bond will grow to $181.74 at maturity in just 7 years.

Security and instant cash

Whichever type of bond you choose, you will own a safe, secure investment which can be turned into instant cash whenever you need it.

A good return

New Canada Savings Bonds are dated November 1, 1978 and yield an average annual interest of 8.90% when held to maturity in 1985. Each new bond earns interest of 8.30% the first year and 9% for each of the remaining 6 years.

Buying Canada Savings Bonds has been a great Canadian tradition for over 30 years. They're the proven choice.

As I see (saw) it

BY JEREMIAH BENDER

Not since Adam!

'Adam?' you ask. Adam from the Garden of Eden. Stayed home, plucked a few fruit! None of this stuff-and-nonsense about 'work' ... careers, upward mobility, nine-to-five. Hung around with a local lass ... Eve was her name. Had a run-in with a snake, ... something about an apple.

Anyway, as I was saying ... Not since Adam! And about time too! men are going back into the home, where they belong. No more fooling around with all this 'work' nonsense. Foolishness, that's what it is!

At least it seems as if they're going back into the home, judging from the latest news from Ottawa (the capital, west of Hull). An announcement made by some City of Ottawa union with a fancy name ... the Institute of Professional Personnel! Seems that men who are going to have babies (this was before all that test-tube business) can have up to six months off work. They call it 'paternity leave'. Women too, except for them it's called 'maternity leave'.

Of course, men don't get paid right now. Not so far anyway. Women do, up to fifteen weeks (unemployment benefits). Which you'll have to admit is a gross injustice. Very gross!

Still, things are improving. But not a whole lot. With six months off, one group of union members gets paid for a day (a bit picky!) Another for five days (still on the picky side!) Then there's a bit of a pinsky in Regina that does better ... fifteen weeks!

All in all, tho' it's not all that much when you think that there's a lot of eating to be done in six months of being off work while you take care of the baby (child rearing, so to speak). Sort of takes the glow off getting off work and getting back into the home. Bare pantries and all. (Adam had it easier, what with all that fruit being so handy on the Tree of Life and the Tree of Knowledge.)

Anyway, it's still progress. And high time too, that men started to have equal rights with women. And don't forget that this is North America, so there's no doubt that what you might call 'real justice' is just around the corner.

Men will get their fair share.

They'll get paid for having babies. They'll get time off with pay. Little by little it'll happen ... a day, five days ... fifteen weeks, six months ... a year, two years, five ...

Don't forget what all those social scientists have been saying about child rearing. It's important for a baby to have his Daddy around (his Mommy too!) while he's growing up. And if social scientists say it, then it must be true!! Men have just been sidetracked from the home with all this foolishness about work, that 'sweat of the brow' business.

And I'll tell you more. Progress isn't going to stop right there. No Siree! There's going to be more progress. Has to be!

This is North America!

No doubt about it, there's got to be more progress.

First of all, by the time all this progress has progressed, men will be able to fix it so they'll never had to go back to work. All they'll have to do is just keep having babies. That'll keep up the time off, with pay!

And that's not an idea deserving of being scoffed at.

Then mothers-in-law will be getting mothers-in-law leaves of absence, what with their being so important to the rearing of a child. In fact when you come right down to it, there'll be grandparents, uncles and aunts, cousins, neighbours, the milkman ... each with time off work with pay. Everybody will be getting back into the home where they belong ... just like Adam and Eve ... and the snake too!

All of which brings us right back to the baby ... the child.

Just picture it. Everybody's back in the home where they belong ... father (remember him? he started all this), mother-in-law, ... neighbour, ... milkman and so forth. Sitting in a circle around this little tot. Query: ... 'Coothy-coot'?

Response: — 'Coo, coo!' Wanting to serve him in every which way, raring to rear this child. Giving him Pabulum, watching for his every gurgle and dribble, showing him how to crawl.

This goes on for a month, six months ... a year, two years ... and so forth.

Finally the little tot squeals 'Ho-o-ow much? Child rearing be damned!' Gets fed up. And just like Adam and Eve when they got fed up, he leaves home. Too much attention from father ... and the rest of them.

Decides to live by the sweat of his brow. Gets a job right off. With everybody being back in the home there's no problem. Has no experience, but that never stopped Adam either.

Moves to Ottawa and joins a union. That way when he grows up and has a baby ... he can go back into the home.

From the town pride

By Don Lindsay

A herd of cows, a flock of sheep, a school of fish - even a clutch of eggs or a covey of quail - but did anyone ever hear any of these terms applied to a group of lions? No. Know what a family of lions is called? A pride...that's what...hence the title of this column.

It should be added that, although pride in your Lion Club's accomplishments is certainly justified, it has no bearing on the selection of the heading.

With the incoming executive now firmly ensconced under the chairmanship of Rodger Cole, the Lions Club held its second meeting of the season in the new hall on Main Street, Wednesday, Sept. 27.

The new slate of officers includes; immediate past president, Gerald Lawler; first vice-president, Vern Boomhower; second vice-president, Mac McLean; secretary, Jack Murphy; treasurer, Doug Stirling; Lion Tamer, Rick Gaylord; Tail Twister, Carl Beatty; one-year directors, George Van Alstyne and Mervin Sherman; two-year directors, Ernie Luck and Don Lindsay.

During the business portion of the evening, Lion Ernie Luck, chairman of the building committee, announced that a date for the official opening of the new hall had been set for Oct. 25 and would take the form of a wine and cheese party. With some loose ends in the planning of this event still to be tied down at the time of writing, more details will be forthcoming at a later date.

A briefing in the procedure to be followed on the Lion's canvass for the CNIB annual campaign during CNIB week was presented and each Lion was assigned a specific area to cover. As a result of this, armed with official receipt forms, identification badges and cash envelopes, some time during CNIB week a Lion will be knocking on your door for a donation. You are urged to follow your Council's leadership in putting Deseronto in the forefront in support of the CNIB in their aid to the visually impaired.

Subsequent to reports from the various committee chairs, in a solemn ceremony charged with emotion, a touching tribute to Super Lion Grouch, the Master Builder, was conducted. Some people may be of the opinion the Lion Club meetings are not always conducted with the sedate decorum deflating such an august body of men. Such an outrageous misconception would have been effectively disproved had any of these grizzled old veterans during that heart-rending attestation of their old comrade's attributes. It would have convinced the most doubting of the deep down reverence and respect they hold for protocol, tradition and entire order, even though during the entire procedure one underlying thought prevailed ... 'Why doesn't he switch to cigarettes?'

That's it for this time. See you at the hall opening.

It is the season again for those miserable suffering faces to stare balefully at me from my television set, the ones with the 'b'locked sinuses', the 'chills' and the 'aching all over' syndrome, the faces that persuade North Americans to spend one billion dollars a year on cold remedies.

What do we get for our billion dollars a year? Almost nothing, according to an article in the June issue of 'Canadian Consumer'.

'Scientific studies have clearly demonstrated that the great majority of cold remedies that consumers choose to use are of no proven benefit. These products are an advertising success but a scientific failure. Advertisers convince us to buy their products by using phrases such as extra-strength, specially formulated, or contains ingredients most recommended by doctors.

'The greatest sales pitch is made in claims that a single cold remedy can treat every symptom. To achieve this end, the remedies are composed of combinations of fever reducers, pain killers, decongestants, expectorants, throat soothers and just about anything else which the public might be led to believe works,' the article says and goes on to demolish the claims for all these remedies, either singly or in combination.

Under the Food and Drug Regulations, drug companies are obliged to provide the government with studies which establish the effectiveness and safety of the drugs they sell. In January, 1978, the President of the Proprietary Association of Canada stated, 'Manufacturers of all proprietary medicines have submitted safety, efficacy claims and advertising information to the federal Health Protection Branch to comply with new legislation. This can be verified by asking the government officials.' So far, efforts by the Canadian Association of Consumers to get this information from government officials have failed - they have simply been told that the tests are confidential. In 1974, a group of McGill University medical students wrote to some 50 different manufacturers of cold remedies asking for proof of the effectiveness of their products. It is now 1978 and no proof has been submitted. Available scientific literature makes no mention of the studies.

Well, perhaps a billion dollars of sales is worth the conspiracy of silence. Or perhaps the taxpayers who pay the salaries of the civil servants in the Health Protection Branch are entitled to have the facts, to know whose health is being protected - the public's or the balance sheet of the drug companies.

In the meantime, when you get the 'common cold', remember that a treated cold lasts two weeks and an untreated cold lasts a fortnight. And save a billion dollars.

Library Notes

When you have taken a drive back north have you ever wondered what it was like to be one of the first white men to explore the Canadian wilderness? The library has four new books that recapture those feelings; they are 'The Discoverers', 'The North Pole or Bust', 'Great Canadian Adventures' and 'Bartlett, the Great Canadian Explorer'.

The library also offers Judith Krantz's bestseller 'Scruples' and John W. Murray's 'Memoirs of a Great Canadian Detective'.

Library staff members have been busy rummaging among the paperback fiction and the library will be featuring the 'Give and Take' book exchange as a result. A patron may take any of these books home and consider them his property. In return, however, he must donate one paperback from his own collection for each one of the library's he takes. Fair enough?

Please note that the library will be closed Thanksgiving Monday.

Who could resist a big, red, juicy apple? Kenny Foster of 183 Brant Street, Deseronto couldn't, and is tackling this big one with relish.

Canadian apple growers expect to harvest a large crop this year

Canadian apple growers are expecting to harvest a large crop this fall.

Agriculture Canada economist Bob Anderson says industry sources are calling for a harvest of about 990 million pounds. This is higher than last year's crop of 909 million pounds but below the bumper 1975 crop of 1,015 million pounds.

Dry summer weather has reduced the early apple crop in some parts of Canada. But the later apples, especially McIntosh and Delicious, should be abundant and of high quality.

'Prices will likely be firm throughout the coming marketing year, but not as strong as for last year's crop,' Dr. Anderson predicts.

A factor adding strength to this year's Canadian apple market is lower than average inventories of some processed products. Apple juice, for instance, is in very short supply. Dr. Anderson says processors can be expected to buy more than 40 % of this year's Canadian crop.

Last year, Canadian growers had above-average exports of apples, largely because of a small crop in Europe. This year's European crop is larger, but there may be increased exports to Middle Eastern countries.

There are more than 30 varieties of apples grown in Canada. Some are all purpose varieties, while others are suited to either eating or cooking. They come from five major growing areas -- the Annapolis Valley in Nova Scotia, the St. John River Valley in New Brunswick, the southern section of Quebec, most of Ontario's counties along the St. Lawrence Valley and around the lower Great Lakes, and the Okanagan Valley in British Columbia.

Agriculture Canada inspects apples to ensure their consistent quality. Canada Extra Fancy and Canada Fancy apples are the top grades and the most desirable for desserts or snacks. To make these top grades, apples must have the color characteristic of the variety, a uniform good shape and quality and a minimum diameter of 57 millimetres.

Canada Commercial or Canada 'Cee' grade apples are also a good choice for eating, but they are not normally as perfect in color, shape or quality.

If you intend to store apples at home keep them cool. Perforated plastic bags of apples keep best in the refrigerator while baskets or boxes can be stored in a cool room or basement where the temperature is from zero celsius to four (32 to 40 degrees F.). Apples often freeze if stored in an unheated garage. The baskets or boxes should be covered with sheets of perforated plastic to keep the proper humidity and freshness.

If you want to know more about apples, write to Information Services, Agriculture Canada, Ottawa K1A 0C2, and ask for the pamphlet 'Know Your Apples'.

DESERONTO, ONTARIO 396-3448 and 396-2236

United Church has long local history

'There is everything that is required in Deseronto for the moral and religious development of its inhabitants,' so said the Deseronto Tribune of June 1894.

'Early in the history of Ontario, the faithful men who preached the gospel to the pioneers could be found traversing the Bay district, sometimes in canoes making their way from point to point or proceeding on foot or on horseback through the almost pathless wilderness.

'The first religious services, as was usual in early days, were held in private houses or in the school house. As the village grew, the different denominations of Christians erected churches of their own until all were thus provided.

'The Episcopal Methodists were the first to build, erecting a brick edifice on the corner of Fourth and Thomas Streets.

'After the union with the Canada Methodists, and with the growth of the town, the church soon proved too small, and it was rebuilt on a larger scale. It is a commodious and comfortable edifice, the congregation being the largest in town. Rev. R. Taylor is the present popular pastor.'

Well, the United Church on the Fourth and Thomas Street corner is still going strong and this Sunday, will be celebrating its 102nd anniversary.

The Rev. Mr. Taylor is long since gone, but the two ministers who will be conducting the service are pioneers in their own way too.

Do health cuts void agreement?

There's been some bad feeling on the Tyendinaga Mohawk Reservation concerning costs of prescription drugs. Have federal government health department spending restrictions violated the agreement for medical services between the Federal Government and the Mohawk Band, or haven't they?

Doug Brant, health administrator on the Reserve feels that the Federal Government is still meeting its agreement, even though some of the people on the Reserve will now be paying for their drugs.

'The Federal Government has cut down on spending and health services got cut too,' he said.

'The Federal Government is sending us a grid, and those who don't qualify on the grid will pay for their drugs,' he said.

Previously, anyone living on the reservation got free drugs, but, last August, Gray's drug store in Deseronto was advised by the Government of Canada, that 'Recent Federal Government financial constraints and budget cuts require us to exercise greater control over pharmacy charges billed to Medical Services.

'We are in the process of preparing revised lists of Indians eligible for prescription drug assistance from Medical Services and the list(s) for Indians in your area will be sent to you about mid-September. It is also our intention at that time to limit charges billed to Medical Services to those available through the Provincial Drug Benefit Plan.

'Effective immediately we will no longer pay for over-the-counter items not requiring prescription such as patent medicines, band aids, antiseptics, face tissue, toothpaste, ordinary shampoos etc. Also items such as baby formula and special diet foods will not be paid by Medical Services. Where individuals require assistance for these latter items they should apply to their local welfare officer.'

'No one will get short-changed under the new set-up,' Mr. Brant said. 'Now, if they can't afford it and the drug is not on the Provincial Drug Benefit Plan, they can get approval in advance.'

Sunday afternoon drive to nowhere can take you to unexpected beauty

A Sunday afternoon drive in the country, just going somewhere...no place special...can sometimes lead you to delightful spots.

The road sign, Gomorrah Rd., is enough to arouse any driver's interest. What images does the word Gomorrah conjure up...the wicked city of the Bible.

Well, if you follow the road sign, Gomorrah, in Sophiasburgh Township, you'll find a beautiful little valley with a creek, a few houses and barns, a winding road over a wooden bridge and, if you're lucky, you'll see a long-legged heron staring back at you from the marshy bank of the creek, taking a long look before he sails away on graceful wings.

The best way to get the breathtaking view of this area is to enter it from the top of the hill. It's a sharp right-hand turn on the road from Demorestville to Highway 14 and the road down is steep and rocky, but the view is worth it.

If any of our readers have any other special spots they'd like to share, why not write and tell us about them, so others can enjoy them too.

Good news from OHRP

Deseronto's clerk-treasurer, Carman Milligan, got a pleasant surprise in his mail...a cheque for $20,254.08, for the Ontario Home Renewal Program.

Deseronto had asked for a total of $60,254.08 for the current year and had previously received $40,000 of that amount. There was no guarantee that the town would receive the total amount. Last year, the OHRP ran out of funds and Deseronto, as well as other places, received only part of the total requested.

'Hopefully, we'll be able to handle five more applications this year,' Mr. Milligan said. 'The six loan applications which had already been approved for this year are well under way. Three have been finished and the others will soon be done.'

The Ontario Home Renewal Program provides loans or grants (according to income) for owners to bring their property up to standards.

Since Deseronto got into the program last year, there have been over 40 applications for OHRP assistance. More than 20 are still on the waiting list.

'If we get the full amount of $60,000 again next year, we might be able to clean them all up,' Mr. Milligan said.

At Tuesday night's meeting of council, it was agreed to pay the inspector, Marvin Brooks, an additional $15 for second 'initial' inspections required because inspections which were done last year, in hopes of enough OHRP money to cover the applications, had to be redone this year.

Mr. Brooks is paid on a per-inspection basis, $40 for an initial inspection and $35 for a final inspection.

EDITORIAL

I hope your Thanksgiving Day was as perfect as ours was.

All afternoon, the good smells of cooking wafted out from the kitchen to the living room where the adults of the family were taking it easy in front of the fireplace.

Grandchildren were racing around outside in the beautiful autumn sunshine, sticking their noses into the kitchen from time to time to ask, 'Isn't it ready yet?'

And what a dinner...when the time finally came to serve it up...turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and turnips, pumpkin and apple pies.

Yes, indeed, it was a day to be thankful for.

But while we are giving thanks for all the good things we enjoy, let's not forget that there are many people, right here in Canada, who haven't got it anywhere nearly as good as the rest of us.

According to Hon. Monique Begin, Canada's Minister of Health and Welfare, there are nearly two million children in Canada living in families with incomes that are inadequate for their needs. And there are hundreds of thousands of elderly who live below the poverty line.

'It is very easy, after all, to turn our backs on poverty, on the struggles of a deserted welfare mother with three or four children, or of a young blind person, or of the 55-year-old single man crippled by accident or disease, unable to work but not old enough to receive an old age pension,' Minister Monique points out.

NOTICE

TO ALL ELECTORS IN THE TOWN OF DESERONTO RE 'FLUORIDATION'

In accordance with Section 262 of the Municipal Act please be notified that the following question will be placed on a ballot in the 1978 Municipal Election:

'ARE YOU IN FAVOUR OF THE FLUORIDATION OF THE PUBLIC WATER SUPPLY OF THIS MUNICIPALITY?'

If this question receives the affirmative vote of a majority of the electors who vote on the question then the Council SHALL authorize such fluoridation to be carried out, and if an affirmative vote is not received then the Council SHALL NOT authorize such fluoridation.

I, Carman J. Milligan, Clerk-Treasurer, Town of Deseronto, do hereby certify that the above question is a true and correct statement of the question that will be submitted to the Electors in the 1978 Municipal Election in the Town of Deseronto.

Clerk-Treasurer
Town of Deseronto

'If we turn our backs on them, we can hardly claim to be a society that believes in social justice or in the worth of dignity of humanity.'

'We must help these people and we must do so now.'

So let's do more than just give thanks for all our own blessings. Let's give our active support to programs aimed at helping those less fortunate than ourselves.

Northport fisherman 'Bill' Belnap dies

W. (Bill) Belnap, well known commercial fisherman from Northport, died suddenly on Sunday morning, of a heart attack, at the age of 63.

Belnaps have been fishing commercially in the area for more than 100 years. Bill himself started when he was 15 and, except for time spent in the air force during the last war, and a few years in the insurance business, he had been fishing all his life.

He has known to many people outside the immediate area as customers came from many places to get the fresh fish he sold in his store.

He is survived by his wife, Ethel; one son, Bill; a grandson, Billy; and four sisters.

Funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. from the Whattam Funeral Home, Pictou.

Well, there's Thanksgiving come and gone again for another year. Same as always me and Elma was swamped with relations, young uns racing all over the place, real pandemonium it were.

Our youngest lad brought his wife to visit for the big dinner. Picture Elma in the kitchen, sweat dripping off in the end of her nose, red in the face like a old turkey cock, with steaming pots and pans on every burner of the stove. Well the lass offered to help. No everybody else knows better to offer to help Elma with her cooking, we learned long ago to stay well clear. Anyways, Elma told her to take off the giblets and make the gravy. Well, seems she ain't never heard of giblet gravy afore, she ups and throws out the gravy and keeps the giblets. Elma weren't too pleased about that, but she done good and held her tongue I must say.

That puts me in mind of them city neighbours of ours. She once bought a chicken from me. Said she didn't know how to pluck it, so Elma done a real good job of pulling out them feathers. Didn't say nothing about cleaning her though, so we figured she knew how to do that job herself. You guessed it. She cooked that bird, guts and all, ain't never come across one that wasn't store boughten before. Reckon she knew then why my chickens were cheaper than them cardboard things they sell in the stores. Lot more work to 'em. Mind you, I always figured it were worth it to eat a bird that tasted like a chicken should ought to.

See as it's election time again. Ain't never run for council myself, though once or twice I've been asked to - on account of shooting off my mouth all my life. Figger I'm too old to be no rubber stamp fer them civil serpents down to the Queen's Park. Seems to me that's all municipal politics is nowadays. Anyways, I ask you, how could I ever have the face to try out for a politician, even in the township after all the things I said all my life about politics. Even ain't got that much cheek!

NOTICE RE NOMINATIONS

HASTINGS COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION PUBLIC SCHOOL TRUSTEES — WARD 4

NOTICE is hereby given to the Public School Electors of Ward 4 H.C.B.E. (Village of Tweed, Town of Deseronto, Townships of Hungerford, Huntingdon and Tyendinaga) in the County of Hastings, THAT, in accordance with the Municipal Elections Act, 1977, the period for NOMINATIONS in the said Ward 4 is the period from Monday the 16th day of October 1978 until Monday the 23rd day of October 1978 at 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of nominating fit and proper persons for the office of:

Public School Trustee — Ward 4

Hastings County Board of Education

All Electors are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly. If a greater number of candidates than required to fill the said offices are nominated and make the required declarations, notice of the time for the holding of the Poll, including the advance Poll, will be given forthwith. Given under my hand this 10th day of October 1978.

Quinte News Round Up

RE-ELECTED

The Prince Edward Federation of Agriculture has named new officers. Robert Williams of RR 1, Picton, was acclaimed president for a second term. Ian Balsillie, RR 3, Picton, was named director and vice-president. John Thompson, RR 2, Picton, is second vice-president and Ken Parks RR 2, Bloomfield is secretary.

CARELESS SHOOTING WARNING

Parents in Napanee are being warned to keep children clear of the wooded area in Richmond Township, just outside the Napanee boundary, which is surrounded by housing and the Napanee Fair Grounds.

A 10-year old girl was hit in the back of the head by shot gun pellets there last week. She was treated and released from hospital.

Provincial police are investigating the accident.

REPTILE BREEDERS WIN AWARD

The Reptile Breeding Foundation in Cherry Valley has won an award from the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquaria for propagation of snakes in captivity.

The award recognizes orientation towards conservation, education and research.

At the Reptile Breeding Foundation, nine snakes have been propagated which have never before been successfully hatched in captivity. They are Epicrates a boa type.

HUNTERS — THINK SAFETY

Hunting accidents claim about 125 lives each year, usually because the most simple rules have been broken.

The Ontario Provincial Police Force has these reminders about basic gun-handling rules:

Never consume alcohol before or during a hunt; know the identifying features of the game you intend to hunt; never shoot in the direction of buildings or livestock.

You cannot depend on the common sense of the hunter beside you — wear bright orange.

The handling of firearms requires great care.

Always handle a gun as if it were loaded; never climb a tree or fence with a loaded firearm; always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle; unattended firearms should always be unloaded.

Few hunting deaths are accidents — they are usually caused by negligence. Don't be at either end of an 'accident', use common sense measures and enjoy a safe hunting trip.

LOST — AND FOUND

For some weeks now, there's been a 'lost' ad running in the Scanner, for a black and grey female cat, child's pet.

Shirley Brant called us today to have us cancel the ad. She is pretty sure the cat is dead.

But the story isn't all that sad. Her daughter has found a new pet — a little grey male kitten, with a white nose.

'He's about eight weeks old,' she said. 'He didn't have a flea collar and I've checked. He doesn't belong to anyone around here.'

Meanwhile, she is trying to contact his former owners, in case they are looking for him. So her ad has changed this week, from the Lost to Found column.

WHICH WAY???

According to a survey taken by the Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce, a lot of tourists complained about poor road signing in the County.

That seems strange. New road signs have been popping up at every little crossroad this summer. Some of the names on the signs aren't the ones the neighbours have used through the years but at least the signs are up.

FIRE PREVENTION

This is Fire Prevention Week in Belleville but firemen are pointing out that preventing fires is a year-round job.

Some of the most usual hazards they're finding on their inspections are faulty electric wiring and rubbish accumulated around furnaces and heaters.

This is a good time of year for everybody to check for hazards around home. And don't forget to make sure you have an escape plan set up in case a fire does break out.

NOTICE NOMINATIONS

NOTICE is hereby given to the Municipal Electors of the Town of Deseronto in the County of Hastings. THAT, in compliance with the Municipal Elections Act, 1977, the period for NOMINATIONS in the said Town of Deseronto is the period from Monday the 16th day of October 1978 until Monday the 23rd day of October 1978 at 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of nominating fit and proper persons for the office of:

MAYOR
DEPUTY-REEVE
COUNCILLORS — Six (6)
PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSIONERS — Two (2)

ALL ELECTORS are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly. If a greater number of candidates than required to fill the said offices are nominated and make the required declarations, notice of the time for the holding of the Poll, including the advance Poll, will be given forthwith.

Given under my hand this 6th day of October 1978.

Carman J. Milligan
Returning Officer
Town of Deseronto

THE NEXT ELECTION...

for municipal councils and school boards will be three weeks early this year.
It will take place throughout Ontario on Monday, November 13, 1978.

This earlier date means that the time available for enumeration and the preparation of the Preliminary List of Electors was shorter than it has been in the past. Also, the time allowed for the Municipal Clerk to revise the list has been cut back as well.

To make certain that you get your vote on November 13 in the correct poll, please be sure to go and check the Preliminary Lists of Electors which the Municipal Clerk will be posting soon. Watch your newspaper for an advertisement telling you where and when the Lists will be available for revision.

Separate School supporters should also make a point of checking the lists. The way you are shown will not only determine which school trustees you can vote for, but may also affect the direction of the education part of your property tax in 1979.

The municipal clerk has a list of people entitled to direct school taxes and this list can be revised up to Friday, October 27, 1978. There will be an advertisement in your newspaper informing you where and when this list can be inspected.

United Church one of the early ones in Deseronto

Deseronto's United Church is marking its 102nd anniversary this Sunday. It is one of the 7 places of worship included in the above photo from the Tribune of June 1894. On the left are the Roman Catholic Church and the English Church; centre, the West End Mission and the Old Mohawk Church; and right, the Presbyterian Church, Methodist Church (now United) and the Salvation Army Barracks.

Bev and Bob Thompson, husband and wife team, recently returned from a 'pioneer' type of posting in Newfoundland, where they travelled many miles by car and boat, along the coast to get to their parishioners.

Before the Newfoundland posting, they were the ministers at the Deseronto United Church. While here, they were both attending Queen's University, and Bev, who was the only woman in the class, attained the highest marks.

The congregation felt very close to their young student ministers and, when their graduation and ordination service was held, a group from the church went by bus to attend.

Bev and Bob are now serving at Smithville, and have a baby daughter, Tracy, who was born in Newfoundland.

This Sunday, there will be two services at the United Church. The morning service will be at 11 a.m. and the evening at 7:30 p.m. There will be special music at both services and during the evening the Thompsons will show slides of their work and tell of their experiences while in Newfoundland.

After the evening service an hour of fellowship and visiting will be held in Stover Hall. Anyone who would care to attend will be most welcome.

Library Notes

The library has just received a shipment of new large print books. There are titles here to interest everyone, even those people who don't want to rest their eyes. There are, for example, Miss Read's 'Country Conking', Dick Francis' suspense novel

'Nerve', Anne Weale's romance 'The Sea Wall', Antonia Ridge's biography 'The Man Who Painted Roses', and Ion Cleary's 'A Sound of Lightning'. Come in and browse among these; they are to be found in the doorway opening to the reference room.

On the table in the main library room, there is a colourful Thanksgiving and autumn harvest display.

In the museum case, now located in the reference room, is the Industrial History of Deseronto display. The staff at the desk will be happy to answer your questions concerning it. Please don't be afraid to ask.

SAFFRON

'And in Latyn I speak a wordes few,
To saffron with my predication.'

A long time ago in England, Chaucer was saying that a few words of Latin would add colour and flavour to his preaching. Today we read of monks in the Far East 'wearing saffron robes'. What is saffron?

Saffron is the dried stamens of a purple autumn crocus, a bulb, originally cultivated in the East and introduced into Spain by the Arabs several centuries ago. The best saffron now comes from Spain and although it seems to be rather expensive, it is well to remember that for most dishes the tiniest amount is sufficient.

Its high price can be attributed to the fact that 4,000 flowers yield only one ounce of commercial saffron. These small dark orange, threadlike pieces have so much concentrated flavour and colour that a very tiny pinch will turn a dish a beautiful brilliant yellow as well as giving it a unique and pleasantly bitter taste.

Dining rooms and restaurants with more pretension than honesty will substitute low-cost turmeric for saffron. Turmeric will also impart a yellow colour to the food but its acid and bitter flavour is better used in curry powder and English mustard.

Saffron most often complements rice, chicken and seafood. The following two recipes feature two of these, are very easy to prepare and also quite affordable.

BROILED CHICKEN WITH SAFFRON

2 lb. chicken, cut into 8 pieces
Onion, grated, 1
Lemon juice, ½ cup
Salt, ½ tsp.
Oregano, salt, pepper
Butter, ¼ cup
Saffron, 1 tsp.

— In a shallow glass dish combine onion, juice, and salt. Add cut-up chicken to this marinade and turn the pieces to coat them well. Let it marinate, covered at room temperature, turning it occasionally, for 2 hours.

— Transfer the chicken pieces to a board or clean countertop and sprinkle them with oregano, salt, pepper.

— In a small saucepan melt the butter, add the crushed saffron threads; coat chicken pieces with this butter and saffron.

— Broil the chicken on a broiler pan, 3 in from the heat, basting it with the saffron butter, and turning it frequently, for 25 mins. or until tender and well browned. Serves 2-3.

RISOTTO MILANESE

Butter, 6 tbsps.
Raw long-grained rice, 1 cup
Onion, chopped, 1
Garlic, crushed, 1 clove
Chicken broth, 2½ cups
Salt, 1 tsp.
Saffron, ½ tsp.
White wine, 2 tbsps.
Grated Parmesan cheese, ½ cup

— Melt 4 tbsps. butter in heavy skillet. Stir in rice and cook over medium heat till golden.

— Add onion and garlic. Cook (med. heat) for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.

— Add 1 cup of broth and salt. Cook, covered, 10 minutes.

— Dissolve saffron in wine and stir into rice. Add remaining broth and cook, covered for 30 minutes.

— Stir in 2 tbsps. butter and grated cheese and serve. Serves 4 - 6.

Chocolate bars will help to provide equipment for multiple sclerosis victims

The Hastings District Multiple Sclerosis group needs money to provide wheel chairs, electric beds and other items which will enable victims of the disease to stay in their own homes, instead of hospitals.

And they are conducting a local campaign right now to raise funds for local use. They are selling chocolate bars and sales are encouraging.

'I've done a lot of phoning around,' said June Thompson of Deseronto. By last Thursday, she had sales for 223 bars...at $1 apiece.

'The Boy Scouts are going to take the bars around and sell them for us. And Malley's store on Main Street is selling them too.'

The weapper on the bar is good for 50 cents off your bill at Mother's Pizza House, 305 Front Street North, Belleville.

'We're certainly thankful for all the help we're getting,' Mrs. Thompson said.

This is not the local group's first effort to make money. Last May, they took part in the Carnation Drive which was Canada wide.

Anyone who would like to help make victims of this crippling disease more comfortable can send donations to the Hastings District Multiple Sclerosis, Box 1447, Belleville.

CAN WE UNWRAP THEM NOW?
Monty and Sesame, four-month-old black poodle puppies are doing their bit to help the MS group. The pups belong to June Thompson of Deseronto

June Thompson could also use some help with her phoning in connection with the campaign and other MS events. Her number is 396-3320.

Earthworm farmers hit pay dirt

While farmers all over America clamor for public awareness of their financial plight, there is a segment of the farming population that has remained silent.

Earthworm farmers are quietly tending to their business and reaping rewards from their crops. Today the earthworm is climbing to its zenith in productivity and uses. Thus, more and more people are turning to earthworms as a source for a stable income or part-time employment.

Requiring very little upkeep and time, earthworms are quickly becoming one of the most popular agricultural 'crops' in the world. Earthworms are practically unlimited in their uses. From putting nitrogen in the soil to help grass grow better to being used as a gourmet food, earthworms are becoming more versatile than their ancestral fishing worms.

While earthworm farming may not sound as elite as tobacco or beans, the earthworm farmer can frequently make more money than both combined. All that is needed is a small investment and enough room in your backyard or field for bins measuring 4 x 8 feet.

One Tennessee farmer estimated that 16 such bins would return $12,000 annually. That includes only four harvest per year, with one pound of the wigglers being sold to the National Worm Growers Exchange for $3. Approximately 1,000 worms make up a pound.

Now don't get greedy and go out and dig up a handful of worms and put them in a hole in your backyard. Chances are you'll be very disappointed. Earthworm farming is scientific. It takes a little research to do it right. Farming correctly is the key to earthworm crops' success.

Search is on for alternative energy sources for work on Canadian farms

Energy is as essential to modern Canadian agriculture as soil and water.

Without large energy inputs - usually in the form of fossil fuels - productivity would plummet. And the result would be food shortages and higher prices.

But, as in all Canadian industries, efforts are intensifying to find ways of using less energy to get the job done - in agriculture, producing food. At the same time the search is on for practical uses of alternate, renewable sources of energy.

The biggest energy input in agriculture is gasoline and diesel fuel for farm machinery and natural gas for the manufacture of fertilizers.

And the realities of production demands and farm labor supplies will boost rather than decrease the emphasis on farm mechanization and its reliance on fossil fuels.

At Agriculture Canada, engineers are leading research to reduce fuel demands and at the same time identify agricultural operations that could make use of alternate energy sources.

Already, zero tillage is being practised on the Canadian prairies, reducing field work before seeding. Other studies have centered on matching horsepower requirements to farm implements. The economy of diesel engines already has resulted in increased sales of tractors so equipped.

While Agriculture Canada economists say reliance on fossil fuels will continue for the foreseeable future, much attention is being paid to renewable energy sources - solar and wind powers and energy production from biomass methods - and their possible place in Canadian agricultural operations.

Some energy-hungry chores, such as space heating animal shelters, drying grain on the prairies, pumping water for livestock and limited electricity generation, can already make some use of renewable energy sources.

Yesterday's main source of energy on Ontario farms was the work horse.

Solar space heating for swine and poultry houses holds promise. Low-temperature grain drying is under careful study with some pilot units already in operation and showing a potential savings of 50 per cent of consumption of conventional fuels.

Energy conservation and solar heating in greenhouses both show promise of fuel savings. Work in these areas is being expanded in Agriculture Canada according to Harold Jackson and Dr. Jim Monroe, two engineers involved in the department's solar program.

Solar-powered irrigation systems already are being tested in the United States, however, these have not yet been tested in Canada.

'But as far as renewable energy sources are concerned, plants still rate as the largest collectors and converters,' says Gordon Timbers, an energy specialist with Agriculture Canada's Engineering and Statistical Research Institute in Ottawa.

The processing of plant material - a form of biomass - can produce a wide range of chemicals, many of which promise to fit into the energy consumption pattern of agriculture.

Wood-fired electrical generating stations could become a viable energy option to serve some areas of Canada, and already the technology is in place for production of the raw materials needed in such systems.

'In Canada, work is centered on the forest industry, with its very large potential biomass resource,' Dr. Timbers says. 'Harvesting waste, saw mill wastes, diseased stands, such as budworm infected areas; and high yielding hybrid poplar all figure in the biomass resource.'

Other biomass techniques could involve the use of a portion of the estimated 20 million tonnes of straw produced by Canadian agriculture as fuel. Direct combustion or gasification to provide energy for grain drying and space heating are possible uses, and these options are being tested.

Production of methane gas - also used as a fuel - through fermentation of animal wastes is another energy option from agriculture. Through contracts from Agriculture Canada, scientists at the University of Manitoba have been testing fermentation processes for the past five years and two farm demonstrations are currently ongoing.

'Windmills were very popular in the 1930's,' Dr. Timbers says. 'From an economic standpoint, they are a speculative alternative at the present time.'

Their small output, whether for electrical generation or water pumping, would have little impact on the energy demands of the modern farm.

'Agriculture is in a unique position, with several renewable energy options to possibly exploit for its own use and the use of others,' Dr. Timbers says.

The Bay of Quinte Conference, for the first time, held two schools for women of this area. The Belleville Presbyterial had the greatest representation with 65 ladies attending both schools.

A total of 206 women from seven presbyterials met for a weekend at Quin-mo-lac early in September, while later in the month another 100 got together for three mid-week days in Oshawa.

A similar program was offered at each school. The theme for both, 'Your Ministry or Ours' emphasized the work and the power of lay people. Mrs. B.J. Klassen and Mrs. Anne Bishop were the resource leaders.

Changes to by-law spell out PUC's and Town's responsibility

The discussion raised at the meeting of Deseronto's council two weeks ago...Who will make the decisions and pay the bills for expenses incurred by the Public Utilities Commission for equipment not taken over by the Ministry of the Environment?...has been settled.

Freda Vick, chairman of the PUC, had asked council to clarify this in the proposed by-law which authorized an agreement between the town and the PUC, under which the PUC would be responsible for billing and collection of water and sewer rates and would turn over the money to the town, after deducting $2.66 for each invoice issued.

The $2.66 had no built-in funding for repairs to water meters, etc.

The proposed by-law has now been changed, incorporating the clarification requested by the PUC. At Tuesday night's meeting, council approved the changes. The proposed by-law will be shown to the PUC for its approval.

The revisions added three things to the proposed by-law.

The section, 'if the PUC needed, it could use the town solicitor for collecting arrears' has been amended by adding 'or a collection agency'.

The PUC will continue to make all decisions for water and sewer that the Ministry has not taken over and the town agrees to pay the PUC for any costs incurred in those decisions.

The town clerk will make sure that the PUC gets copies of plumbing permits.

Public skating interest declines

Due to a continuing decline in public skating revenue, Deseronto's Recreation Committee has been considering a change in the rate of 35 cents for children, but it has decided that the rate will remain as it is for the balance of this season.

The committee recommended, and Deseronto Council approved the recommendation, that the arena manager needed a car allowance to offset expense of approximately 4,000 miles a year. A sum of $300 was approved for 1978.

Recreation director Jack Layfield presented the committee with a preliminary plan for enlarging the lobby area, creating heated spectator area, and adding a storage room at the west end of the arena. The project would be eligible for community centre grant and Wintario support. The proposal is to be discussed in more detail at a later meeting.

Deseronto Council Briefs

....At Tuesday night's meeting, Deseronto Council agreed to sell to Harry Taras a strip of land belonging to the town, for a nominal fee. The Public Utilities Commission has a right of way over the land which adjoins Mr. Taras' property and will continue to have this right of way. The driveway was not included when the land was sold to Mr. Taras but he has been paying sewer frontage on it.

....Council members were invited to attend the opening of the Lions Club new hall on Oct. 15.

....A request for assistance from the Belleville Santa Claus Parade committee was turned down.

....Councillor A. Blaney expressed concern that there had been no report from the Ministry of the Environment concerning the capacity of the new plant in Deseronto. Carman Milligan has requested this information by telephone and will now make the request in writing.

DAVID MERCER — 476-6644

Keith Pellatt scrapes flaking paint from the second floor ceiling of Deseronto's post office building, helping to get the premises ready to serve as a headquarters for the Deseronto Sea Cadets.

Sea Cadets need gifts of heaters

The top floors of the Deseronto post office are in a sorry shape. Paint is peeling from the walls and ceilings, radiators are broken and useless. There's a lot of work to be done before the Deseronto Sea Cadets can move in.

But thanks to a Canada Manpower Works program, the repair work is underway.

Water has been turned on and the bathroom is the first room that has been renovated.

'It took a couple of days for the first coat of paint to dry, because it was so cold in here,' said George Barker, one of the three men working on the 13-week project.

'We need some heaters,' said Al Gordonier, another worker.

The radiators are not going to be put back into working order and Art Hill, of the Deseronto Branch of the Canadian Legion, which sponsors the Sea Cadet Corps, is asking around to see if anyone has any electric heaters they don't need.

Hydro ready with expropriation offers

Reports have been coming in that farmers in Tyendinaga, Thurlow and Sydney Townships, whose properties are affected by Ontario Hydro's 500 KV line from Oshawa to Gretna Junction, are far from happy with the expropriation offers Hydro is making.

There have been reports of work crews taking access to property before a settlement has been reached ... wide variations in the appraisals ... and appraisals lower than the landowner feels are justified.

Landowners in South Fredericksburgh and Prince Edward County, affected by the 230 KV line from Lennox to Picton, are next in line for expropriation 'hassles' with Hydro.

Jack Muir of Hydro's Belleville office, said that appraisals for the area have now been completed and, as required by the Expropriation Act, offers will be delivered.

'We'll be negotiating over the next weeks and months,' he said.

The necessity for the 230 KV line has provoked a lot of controversy over the past few years. Prince Edward County seems to have been doing OK with the power it now has and there have been grumblings that it would appear forecasts of future needs in the county were overrated.

People are going to be looking pretty closely at offers made to them by Hydro for the construction of a line that may prove to have been unnecessary.

No it wasn't a snow storm — just dust

Was it an early snowstorm in just one small section of Prince Edward County one day last week?

No...it wasn't. It was just an extra amount of dust pouring out of the stacks at Lake Ontario Cement but drivers on Highway 49, who ran into it, said it was just like a heavy snowstorm and visibility was cut to almost zero.

The Ontario Provincial Police Detachment in Picton said they had had no complaints from drivers about the traffic hazard posed by the dust.

What caused the excessive dust? Leo Finnegan of the Cement plant said, 'Occasionally we get into trouble with the existing precipitators and we have to shut them down and let them cool off before we can go in to fix them. The trouble might be a wire shorting out, for example.'

Mr. Finnegan said there was one day last week when there was a lot of dust and they had to close down a precipitator and make repairs.

The plant is aiming for a deadline of about the middle of next April for installation of two conditioning towers which will prepare the gases so the dust collectors can work on them.

Back in August, LOCL's John Wynan told the Scanner that 'This will cover the worst of it'.

Contracts have now been let for the conditioning towers and some preliminary work is underway.

And just what is a psychometrist?

It's not too odd that we, at the Scanner, are stumped on the meaning of a word, but we were on this one...psychometrist.

We couldn't find it in the dictionary and, while we could guess a lot about the word from its components, we still wanted to know exactly what it meant, because the Hastings taxpayers are helping to pay for one and they should know just what they are getting for their money.

At a recent meeting, the Hastings Board of Education entered into an agreement for the school year with the Belleville General Hospital for the services of a psychometrist to serve the North Hastings Associated School Group on the understanding that the psychometrist would work 50% of the time in the schools and 50% of the time in the clinic.

The psychometrist's salary is $17,800 a year.

Anyway, we checked with the school board and found out from Fred Tate at the board offices that a psychometrist does assessments and diagnosis of children with special learning disabilities, a psychological assessment. He has an MA in psychology and would have to have a PhD before he could be called a psychologist.

So now we know what we are paying for.

Schools use almost half our taxes Do you know who represents you?

How many taxpayers know who their representative on the local Board of Education is?

Why isn't there more interest in who is elected to the board?

There's always a big froo-fra at election time about who's running for mayor, for reeve, and for council ... but there's usually very little excitement in the school board race and, in many instances, the board members go in by acclamation.

Perhaps many people are not aware of the fact that in most municipalities, the school board makes up about half of the total local expenditures carried by the taxpayers ... and that a municipal council has NO CONTROL over the school board budget and cannot refuse to accept the budget presented by the board.

In Deseronto, for example, the residential mill rate this year was 192.68. The levy for education purposes was 82.75 (a 5.8% jump over the previous year) and the levy for other town and county purposes was 109.93 (up only 3.5% from 1977).

Deseronto has nine people on town council, watching out for the best interests of the residents. But it does not have even one representative of its own on the Hastings County Board of Education. It shares one school board member with Tweed, Huntingdon, Hungerford and Tyendinaga Township.

The Lennox and Addington Board has 14 members, two from Napanee, one from each of Richmond and North Fredericksburgh townships, while South Fredericksburgh and Adolphus town share one. Another five represent Amherstview, Odessa, Ernestown and Amherst Island.

Although high school students from Deseronto go to the Napanee District High School, Deseronto residents have no direct control over the Lennox and Addington Board.

'The secondary school students from Deseronto have been in the Lennox and Addington system since back in the sixties, when they were put there by an Act of Parliament. They remained that way when the county school reorganizations were done,' said J.C. McLeod, director of education for Lennox and Addington. 'Our board bills Hastings board for the total cost of these students and Hastings collects the Provincial grants. Hastings taxpayers make up the difference.'

Back on the job in the library

Story time is a real treat for little people at Deseronto's Public Library on Wednesday afternoons. Krista and Cindy Marlow are intrigued by the story of detection Mrs. Helen Tunncliffe is reading to them. And it brought back a lot of memories for the reader too. Mrs. Tunncliffe was librarian for many years and was helping out last week while Gloria Greenfield was away at a workshop. In the lower photo, Jamie McLachlan found the doll much more interesting than the story. His mother, Mrs. Peter McLachlan (the former Marie Dorey) used to assist at the Deseronto library when she was still going to school.

EDITORIAL

There's an old saying that 'The law is a ass' and it certainly looks like it sometimes.

If a man tries to approach a woman on the street with an offer to pay for a night's entertainment, he stands a chance of being pulled out to the hogswog, and so can a woman who solicits on the street.

But it would appear that it is ok and legal to do it through the want ads in the newspapers.

Just take a look at some of the personal columns in a big metropolitan daily. They're getting so many ads for 'companions' they're running them under a separate heading.

Here are a few recent samples, disguised a bit but not changed in meaning.

...Man, over 6 feet, married, seeks intimate relations with female for a discrete sensual meeting. Not much doubt about what he's after, is there?

Or here's a fellow looking for a female university student who lacks the required means to pay for her education. 'If the individual female is appropriate' the advertiser is interested in providing full aid.

This fellow is a little lazy...he's married and looking for a married woman for afternoon encounters but she must be in the west suburbs...obviously he doesn't want the inconvenience of travelling too far.

And here's one fellow in his twenties who doesn't even want to do the paying...Handsome man just out of jail...looking for a wealthy lady fortyish.

This one will pay. He's a married man in his forties, looking for an attractive intelligent female for discreet meetings and an all expense paid trip.

These are just some of the more straightforward ones. There are others where bi-sexual married men are looking for bi-sexual married women for 'full enjoyment', and there are those who are looking for younger people in their own sex.

You may find yourself having a good laugh when you first read them. But after you've finished laughing, and thought about what you've just read, maybe you'll have a good cry about the sorry mess our society has gotten itself into.

LETTERS

GARBAGE SITUATION A MESS

Dear Editor:

When is Sophiasburgh Township going to come into the 20th century and give its older people a break by arranging some kind of garbage pick up?

No matter where you live in the township...and it's a big one...you have to load all your garbage into your car, tote it over to Demoreville and then lift it out of the car, up over your head and into a container that is usually full to the top anyway.

Who do you sue if you have a heart attack while you're doing it?

Surely if other townships in the county can provide garbage pick up, Sophiasburgh can too.

I know I'd be more than willing to pay a little extra for taxes to cover it and bet a lot of other people would too. Probably the taxes wouldn't be much more than the money it takes now for gas to go 10 miles of more to the dump and back again.

How about everyone in the township asking the municipal candidates...why no garbage pick up yet?

Well, she sure turned cold in a hurry this week, didn't she. Always reckon on this time of year's my favorite, these real crisp fall days, when the sun's still bright but there's enough nip in the air to let you know it ain't going to be so far too much longer. Makes you enjoy it more somehow.

Anyways, sure is frost on the punkin time, them punkins is popping all over the place and folks is clearing out their gardens ready for winter.

Elma spent most of last weekend putting stuff by, freezing everything she could lay her hands on seemed to me. Times I figured if I got in the way she'd be freezing me down too. Told me often enough that I'm a bread knife case as it is.

Funny about this time of year. Everybody's too busy to get into no trouble. Ain't heard a good story in I don't know how long. Been pretty busy myself this week, fixin fences. You remember that old goat we got - our Penelope? Well, seems goats ain't no different from other stock, they gets the wandering urge in the fall too. Trouble is it takes something like Stalag 17 to keep 'em in if they takes it into their heads to get out. That danged goat will go under, through or over most fences I ever seen. Mind you, it ain't too bad for us, she's used to us like, and all I got to do is to cuss her good and loud, and she puts herself back where she should oughter be. Trouble is this past week she's taken to hopping over the fence at the far end of the pasture, where them new folks built a right pretty bungalow a year or two back. Just got their shrubs going real good, but our Penny thinks they're in need of a bit of pruning. Somehow they don't take too kindly to the notion.

Well, I puts up eye wire, and she goes through it; I put up three strands of barb on top, and she goes over it; I puts a Hydro fence on top of it all, and she goes under it. Took me a couple of week to outsmart one goat. Thank the Lord I ain't got a whole herd of 'em.

Finally, in desperation, I told the woman of the house to cuss at her if n she got over the fence, and she'd go right back. Well, you could see she was a proper brought up young woman, and she didn't take too kindly to the advice. Reckon it was about the ninth or tenth time she chased our Penny out of her roses that she really let go. By gol, I swear the air went blue. I ain't never heard nothing like it. It weren't so much the words she said, but the way she strung 'em together that got to me.

Seems to have gotten to Penny too. She ain't been near the place since. Just goes to show you can't tell by appearances. To look at my Penny you'd think her was the devil himself what with the horn and beard - and there she can be shocked. And to look at that young woman you'd think butter wouldn't melt in her mouth, and there she is with a tongue like a flame thrower. Makes you think, don't it?

'SOUND' SHOOTING !!

A hunter's decision to squeeze the trigger is influenced primarily by what he sees, or more specifically, by what he THINKS he sees. The quality of his vision is a key factor. If his vision is inadequate, he becomes a hazard to others, a new release from the Ontario Association of Optometrists points out.

Every hunter should have a professional vision examination every 12 months, the Association advises.

Must have been a couple of those 'poor vision' hunters a friend of mine ran into once in the woods.

When he asked them if they'd bagged anything yet they said no, but they had had some 'sound' shots ... 'We heard a noise in the bush and we shot at it,' they said.

'Just give me 15 minutes to get the hell out of here,' my friend said as he raced away from them.

FARMERS' DIESEL FUEL

Farmers now receive a rebate on taxation for gas but diesel fuel is still tax free. Now farmers are beginning to worry about rumours of a tax on diesel fuel.

Members of the Prince Edward Federation of Agriculture are preparing a resolution for the provincial federation that diesel fuel used in farm machinery continue to be excluded from taxation.

POOL PROJECT STILL AFOAT

Members of a special committee, formed last year to investigate the possibility of a County swimming pool, are now studying two kinds of swimming pool ideas.

The Prince Edward Board of Education has accepted initial plans for the pool's construction on their property.

ADMINISTRATOR RESIGNS

Ernest Shortt, business administrator for the Prince Edward County Board of Education, will be resigning his position next March.

NEW COMMANDER

Lt.-Col. Duncan Campbell, new commander of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, has taken over from the former commander, Lt. Col. John Inrig of Picton.

At a special ceremony in front of Belleville's City Hall, the regiment paraded in front of its new commander. Former wartime commander, Lt. Col. Lord John Tweedsmuir, was also on hand for the inspection.

ELECTRONICS IN THE CHURCH

First of its kind to be installed in a Prince Edward County Church, is the electronic organ which is now providing music at Bloomfield's Christian Reform Church.

The organist can still hit a wrong note, but the organ itself will never go out of tune ... the tuning system is continually adjusted by a computer.

WHERE'S THE CANADIAN CHEESE IN THE SUPERMARKET?

In an effort to gauge consumer acceptance of Canadian specialty cheese in relation to their imported counterparts, Agriculture Canada's Food Advisory Division served samples of each variety of cheese to 100 volunteers who liked specialty cheese. Ten of the 50 varieties of specialty cheese produced in Canada were used in the test. Comparisons were made between one domestic and one imported sample of each variety.

Six Canadian varieties were preferred over the imported product. These were Emmentaler, Camembert, Edam, Gruyere, Brie and Feta. Havarti and Gouda were the exceptions - that is, the imported product was preferred. No difference was detected between the domestic and imported Muenster and Provolone samples, Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan said. Judging from these results, it is clear that the flavours and textures of Canadian specialty cheeses are well liked, and supermarkets can stock these products with confidence.

That's all very well, Mr. Whelan. But with local cheese factories going out of business for lack of milk, where are the supermarkets going to find the domestic cheese to put on their shelves?

New Canada Savings Bonds

Safety, instant cash and a good return

For over 32 years, Canada Savings Bonds have been a great Canadian tradition.

With Canada Savings Bonds, you get a safe, secure investment which earns good interest year after year. And they're instant cash anytime. No wonder millions of Canadians invest in Canada Savings Bonds every year.

New Canada Savings Bonds are dated November 1, 1978 and yield an average annual interest of 8.90% when held to maturity in 1985. Each new bond earns interest of 8.50% the first year and 9% for each of the remaining 6 years.

The choice is yours

Canada Savings Bonds also offer you a great choice. There's a Regular Interest Bond that pays interest each year. And a Compound Interest Bond that reinvests your interest automatically. Choose the bond that's right for you.

The Regular Interest Bond

If you want a regular annual income from your investment, you'll like the Regular Interest Bond which pays interest automatically each November 1.

If you're like many bondholders, you'll appreciate the direct deposit feature. With this convenient option, your interest is deposited directly into your chequing or savings account.

Simply ask for it when you buy your new bonds. Or, you can receive your interest by cheque through the mail.

You can buy the Regular Interest Bond for cash wherever you bank or invest in denominations of $300, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

The Compound Interest Bond

If you seek savings growth, or an investment for the future, or a retirement fund, you'll choose the Compound Interest Bond which earns interest on your interest, after the first year, at the guaranteed annual rate of 8.90%.

Here's how the value of a $100 bond grows:

Nov 1	Value	Nov 1	Value
1979	$108.50	1983	$153.0*
1980	$118.26	1984	$166.75
1981	$128.88	1985	$181.7*
1982	$140.46

The Compound Interest Bond may be purchased for cash or on the convenient Monthly Savings Plan wherever you bank or invest. It is available in denominations of $100, $300, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

A dual purchase limit

You may buy new Canada Savings Bonds in various amounts up to a limit of $30,000. In addition, holders of "S24" and "SR" bonds may reinvest all proceeds from their maturing bonds in the new Series.

From the Town Pride

By DON LINDSAY

The meeting of the Lions Club on Wednesday, October 11th, was noteworthy if for no other reason than the record amount of cash picked up in fines. Our much maligned Tail Twister in his zeal to extract every possible penny from his brother Lions, overplayed his hand somewhat, resulting in his donating an amount greatly in excess of what he intended.

Lion Carl Beattie's munificent gesture, even if it was unintended, was saluted with some delight by all former victims of his vigorous efforts in performance of his Tail Twister duties.

We now have three brand new Lions. District Deputy Governor Lion Sam Camilleri, on an official visit to the Deseronto Club that night, officiated at the induction ceremony making Mike VanAlstyne, Rick Herman and Leroy Fox our newest members. Welcome to the club, chaps.

Last week's meeting was also marked by the inordinate number of people who partook of the sumptuous repast laid on by our hard working caterer, Mrs. Kemp. This large attendance was brought about by some 16 members of the Land of Lakes Lion Club ostensibly making an official visit to look over our new hall - but we suspect that it was really to enjoy Mrs. Kemp's cooking. Word surely gets around, doesn't it?

Because of the large number of guests present, Lion President Roger Cole kept routine business to a minimum - the only new developments being approval of a motion to purchase new Lions Club signs to be set up at each of the three entrances to our town. A sum of $50 was also voted as a contribution to the CNIB campaign.

And how about that campaign. With several of the Lions who acted as canvassers still to be heard from, we have already passed our target of $500. Another bouquet of orchids to the boys in the gold and purple vests.

We would not be thorough in our reporting of events taking place at last week's meeting if we didn't make reference to the masterful evasive action performed by Lion Merv Sherman when he was questioned point blank about the great fish caper. Pretty fancy footwork, Lion Mervin.

The fact that the official opening of our new hall is now history forces yours truly to admit to a big fat goof in our last report on Lion activities. The date should have read October 15th, instead of the 25th and probably because of a champagne taste on a beer budget, what was announced as a wine and cheese party turned out to be coffee and doughnuts. Sorry about that, folks..

Despite these boo-boos, however, the event turned out to be a success and Lion Tom Doyle reports that only five cups of his famous brew were left when the party was over.

The festivities started with an introductory talk and welcome by MC Lion Gerry Lawlor and, after brief speeches by Past Deputy District Governor Lion Bob Schamerhorn, Lion President Roger Cole and Mayor John Neal it seemed right and fitting that the official ribbon cutting was performed by Charter Member of the Deseronto Lions Club, Joe Reynolds on his 82nd birthday. An appropriate day upon which to open a new home for the club he helped to form way back when.

Coming up soon will be a 'do' the Lions are calling Appreciation Night. This affair will be the Lions' way of saying 'Thank You' to all non-members of the club who assisted in the building of the hall. At the moment the information on this is that it will be held on Nov. 4th at 9 p.m. and will be a dance and social evening for members and their wives as well as the aforementioned volunteers builders and their spouses.

That's it for the Lions this time.

PUMPKIN

After the first vine-killing frost, fields of bright orange pumpkins remind us that fall has indeed arrived. In Canada this gourd seems to have only two uses; as a decoration at Thanksgiving and Halloween and as pie filling.

Were we to use apples only as a decoration and as filling for pies, we would miss out on cider, applesauce, apple dumplings and baked apples, to name only a few.

The same applies to the pumpkin - a good source of potassium, sodium and vitamin B.

For this week's recipes buy only plain canned pumpkin, not the pie filling. The muffins and bars are moist and delicious, but the real surprise is the soup. It is so delicate tasting that I guarantee your family or guests will love it, and they'll be most surprised when told what they are eating. Be adventurous.

PUMPKIN MUFFINS

Canned pumpkin, 1 cup

Eggs, 2

Vegetable oil, one-third cup

Corn syrup, one-quarter cup

All-purpose flour, 2 cups

Baking powder, 3 tsp.

Salt, one-half tsp.

Cinnamon, one-half tsp.

Ginger, one-half tsp.

Nutmeg, one-quarter tsp.

Allspice or mace, one-quarter tsp.

White sugar, 1 cup

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.

In a large bowl, combine pumpkin, eggs, oil and corn syrup. Stir until well mixed.

Sift the remaining ingredients into the pumpkin mixture. Stir only until combined.

Fill greased muffin cups two-thirds full.

Bake 20-25 minutes or until light golden brown. Makes 24 muffins.

SPICY PUMPKIN BARS

Shortening, one-half cup

Brown sugar, 1 cup

White sugar, one-quarter cup

Eggs, 3

Canned pumpkin, 2 cups

All-purpose flour, 2 cups

Baking powder, 4 tsp.

Cinnamon, 1 tsp.

Nutmeg, one-half tsp.

Ginger, one-half tsp.

Salt, one-half tsp.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.

Cream together shortening, brown and white sugars until light and fluffy.

Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in pumpkin.

Combine dry ingredients and gradually stir into creamed mixture.

Spread in a greased 15 by 10 inch jelly roll pan. Bake 20-30 minutes.

Cool in pan on rack. If desired spread with creamy orange icing. Cut into bars. Makes 32 bars 3 by 1 inch.

PUMPKIN SOUP

Canned pumpkin, 3 cups

Chicken bouillon, 6 cups

Flour, 2 tsp.

Salt, 2 tsp.

Ginger, one-half tsp.

Nutmeg, one-half tsp.

Milk or half and half, one and a half cups

Chives, minced, one handful

Egg yolks, lightly beaten, 2

Heat pumpkin and chicken bouillon until mixture is simmering.

Combine flour, salt, ginger, nutmeg, and one-half cup of the milk (or half and half). Add to pumpkin mixture and heat 3-4 minutes, stirring constantly.

Cover and heat 20 minutes but do not allow to boil. (Use a double boiler if you feel that's safer.) Stir in chives.

Beat egg yolks with remaining cup of milk (or half and half), add to soup and cook 5 minutes over hot water or low heat. Serve hot. Serves 10.

CORNUCOPIA

By Ann McGill

WITH APOLOGIES TO MR. WESTON

A revolution is taking place. We no longer have to eat ordinary bread that tastes like cotton wool mixed with water and has most of the vitamins and minerals removed.

Someone has been listening to us. His name is Morton Satin. He works for General Bakeries. Several years ago, he persuaded General Bakeries that a large proportion of the population wants to eat bread that tastes like food and has the nutritional values of the wheat from which it came.

According to Mr. Satin, 'Whole wheat differs from ordinary white bread through its increased content of physiologically active fibre and essential trace elements. Most North Americans eat ordinary white bread because of its flavour, texture and convenience but it has been under mounting criticism with the result that the white bread market has shrunk.

Mr. Satin, the director of research for Multimarques Inc., embarked on a programme to find a natural source of fibre. Working closely with MacDonald College, he and his colleagues investigated a number of sources of natural fibre to determine the physiological effects on digestion. They found that the hulls of yellow field peas, a natural unprocessed source of fibre, were equivalent in bulk value as well as in food balance to wheat bran, but possess a much finer flavour, texture and colour for man-consumed bread. The final formula was devised — other ingredients include unleached flour, sugar, wheat gluten, vegetable oil, yeast and lecithin. It has no preservatives. It has only one additive which is put in the flour to oxidize it, but they are working on that, too and hope to come up with a non-chemical means of oxidizing flour.

The name of this great achievement is DAILY BREAD. Another great Canadian achievement was the crossing of wheat and rye grains to achieve a new grain called Triticale. It is not as susceptible to disease and the yield per acre is higher. It has, unfortunately, taken some years for the baking industry to get around to using this new grain. General Bakeries makes a multi-grain bread called Beau Matin but it seems to be available only in Quebec and Ottawa.

Congratulations to Multimarque, a Montreal research and development company, for its efforts to develop foods with fewer additives, to give us our 'daily bread' with some flavour and without a lot of junk in it.

Library Notes

Ever been confused by the labyrinthine complexity of government in Canada?

The public library now has a volume that may help you, called the 'KWIC index to the Government of Ontario'. This reference work is kept behind the desk, but is available, on request, to patrons who want to know such things as the address of a certain provincial government department or the function of departments and officials. Even the telephone numbers are listed.

The library also has the current 'Almanac of Canada' which contains all kinds of information concerning our nation. There are addresses of companies in it, vacation trends, law, etc. encompassed by it. If you have a question concerning current Canadian business and governmental affairs, the answer is probably in the almanac.

Parents please note. On Saturday, Oct. 28, there will be a puppet show at 4 p.m.

School board representation important issue

So, somewhat indirectly, the one representative on the Hastings Board, whom Deseronto shares with the rest of Ward 4, does have a bit of input into the interests of Hastings students who are getting their education in Lennox and Addington.

This one trustee has an onerous job to represent the interests ... financial and educational ... for such a large territory ... and electors should take a great interest in who fills this spot for them.

The Prince Edward County Board of Education has 14 members, one each from the townships of Hillier, Athol, North Marysburgh, South Marysburgh, Hallowell, Sophiasburgh, one from Wellington, one from Bloomfield, three from Ameliasburgh Township, two from the Town of Picton and a representative from the Hastings-Prince Edward Separate School Board.

It's easy to understand why many people are not interested in trying to get on a school board today.

With reduced enrolments and subsequent reduction in provincial grants, coupled with an inflated cost for fixed expenditures, the school boards have been caught in the middle and have been taking a lot of flak for rising mill rates.

But it's a job in the community that must be done by someone. It's an important job, balancing the real educational needs of the children against the costs of providing the services.

It will be interesting to see how many names stand on the ballot when nomination day rolls around next week. A multiplicity or paucity of candidates for school board seats will show whether the electors really do care what happens in the field of education.

Deseronto Legion News

BY ART HILL

At the executive meeting held on Monday, Oct. 16, Comrade Al Punched submitted his resignation as Branch vice president. It was with regret that it was accepted.

Comrade Edna Hearn was appointed to fill the vacancy.

The Remembrance Day Dinner and Dance which had been proposed, was cancelled. Entertainment will be held in the lower hall during the afternoon.

All the fraternal members must apply for membership forms are available from the stewards. Failing to comply will cause you to be struck off the roll.

Bay Ridges Branch 606 will be visiting our Branch for a social weekend on Nov. 18 and 19. It is hoped that all members will make an effort to attend and help entertain our comrades, as they have when we visit their Branch.

Saturday entertainment is doing well. We would like to see more Branch members attending. Remember this entertainment is for your pleasure.

Arrangements are being made for an Honour and Awards night for Dec. 2. All comrades that are entitled to service badges or pins etc. contact a member of the executive.

There will be a New Year's Dance on 30th of December. Further information will be following.

We will be holding our annual church parade on Nov. 5. Will all comrades make a special note of this date.

Dues are now being accepted. So be an early bird.

The Earle J. Brant Memorial Branch, 280, Royal Canadian Legion, Deseronto, is holding a Halloween Masquerade on Saturday, October 28 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Advance tickets are $6 a couple; at the door, $7 a couple. There will be door and costume prizes and music will be supplied by the Country Rebels.

Tyendinaga - P.E. trophies awarded

The Tyendinaga-Prince Edward Softball Association topped off its successful first season with a banquet and presentation of awards at the Demorestville Hall last week.

The Association had six teams in play, two from the Tyendinaga Mohawk Reserve, two from Deseronto, one from Wellington and one from Sophiasburgh. The Sophiasburgh girls were top winners in the 12-18 age group.

Earl Hill, of the Mohawk Reserve, and president of the new association, was on hand to present the trophy to team captain, Tracy Rosborough. Helena MacConnell, one of the team members, took two trophies of her own, the most outstanding player and the most sportsmanlike.

The team trophy was donated by D and S Groceria of Deseronto.

Members of the winning team were Tracy Rosborough, Penny Rosborough, Helena MacConnell, Carrie Messer, Debbie Rabbie, Lynn O'Brien, Kerry Tilden, Kathy Pearsall, Kim Powell, Carrie Mitchell, Deirdre Evans, Laren Stone and Sherry Stone. Coaches were Sharron Evans and Maxine Messer.

Glenn Trip, chairman of the Sophiasburgh Recreation Committee, congratulated the winners and reported on the summer activities in the township...a swimming program, summer playground, tennis and baseball. Money to help out with the baseball equipment was raised by a refreshment booth operated in the Northport Park during the summer months.

Members of the other teams were introduced also.

Sophiasburgh's reeve, George Foster, welcomed the guests.

Takeover concerns

L & A Historical Society

A representative from the Royal Ontario Museum will be on hand for the next meeting of the Lennox and Addington Historical Society when the topic for discussion will be quilts. Date of the meeting has not yet been set.

The executive is concerned about the ramifications of the Society taking over the ownership and operation of MacPherson House. Transfer action is held up at present, and the executive is going to request County Council to postpone the date of November 30 to a later time for the completion of the transfer.

The House Tour was a big success. Committee members who worked for about a year planning the event, were Isabel Dean, Jane Foster, Marie Knuth, Alice Poole, Marie Ramsay, Anne Turner, Marguerite Way and the chairman, Helen Hutchinson.

The Society prize for the best story on local topics written by any student of the county will be given at the NDSS commencement on Nov. 4, to Susan Case.

PRELIMINARY LIST OF ELECTORS FOR TOWNSHIP OF TYENDINAGA

This preliminary list of electors prepared as required by The Municipal Elections Act, 1977 was publicly posted in the office of the municipal clerk on the 13 day of October, 1978.

Electors should examine the list to ensure that their names and relevant information are correctly shown.

Applications for inclusions, additions or corrections to or deletions from the list, including school support, may be made by an elector by completing and filing a form obtainable at the office of the clerk.

The last day for filing applications concerning inclusions, additions, corrections or deletions: Friday, October 27, 1978.

Township of Tyendinaga NOMINATIONS

TAKE NOTICE that persons may be nominated as candidates in an election between 9 o'clock in the forenoon and 5 o'clock in the afternoon of Nomination Day, Monday, October 23, 1978, but nothing in Section 35 of The Municipal Election Act, 1977 prevents a person filing a nomination paper with the clerk during his normal office hours in the week immediately prior to nomination day.

Offices for which persons may be nominated are: Reeve, Deputy-Reeve, three Councillors and one member to Hastings Prince Edward County Roman Catholic Separate School Board.

Electors are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly, and further take notice that the manner in which said nominations shall be filed is set forth in Section 36 of The Municipal Elections Act. Nomination forms and full particulars of procedures to be followed may be obtained from the undersigned.

If a greater number of candidates than required to fill the said offices are nominated and make the required declarations, notice of the time for the holding of the poll, including the advance poll, and notice of the last day for making applications for a certificate to vote by proxy will be given forthwith.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that where the number of candidates for an office who are nominated at the end of nomination day is not sufficient to fill the number of vacancies to which the candidates may be elected, on the Wednesday following nomination day, October 25, 1978, the clerk may, between the hours of 9 o'clock in the forenoon and 5 o'clock in the afternoon, receive and certify additional nominations for the office in respect of which there was an insufficient number of candidates.

Given under my hand this 10th day of October, 1978.

Old Timers tour

On October 2, the members of the Quinte Old Timers Club enjoyed a colour tour to Ottawa and the Gatineau area. During a stop-over at 'The Bay' in Ottawa the passengers had lunch and shopped. Then on to Gatineau Park.

The day began with a cloudy sky, but as the tour continued through the park, the sun shone illuminating the foliage on the trees to the height of their fall beauty. The Laurentian range extended for miles and miles in a mass of colour.

Memories of this colour and beauty will remain when the cold and snow blanket the country.

On the trip home, we all enjoyed dinner at 'The Ponderosa' in Brockville.

The Parkway Apartments Auxiliary held its first meeting of the fall season on Sept. 28. The president, Addie Stone, called the meeting to order and welcomed all the members.

Addie thanked all who helped during her absence this summer. The minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report were given by Jean John and were approved as read. Flowers and cards were sent to nine residents who were patients in the hospital during the summer, also flowers were sent in memory of a former resident Wm. Miller.

A strawberry social was enjoyed by all who could attend.

As this is the beginning of a new year of activities the following officers were elected: president, Addie Stone; vice-president, Vera Ryan; secretary-treasurer, Jean John.

It was decided to order a memorial wreath for Nov. 11. Vera Ryan was chosen to place the wreath at the Cenotaph for residents of Parkway Apts.

The children will not be forgotten as they go 'trick or treat' on Halloween. They will be given treats at the main entrance of the Apt. building.

Card parties for the residents will be held on Tuesday evenings. A Christmas shopping trip to Quinte Mall is planned.

DESERONTO MRS. KAY HOOD

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid and W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. Kathleen Allin on Tuesday, Oct. 10. The president, Mrs. Mable Moore welcomed the members and one guest, and opened with the hymn 'Come let us sing of a wonderful love'. She also led in prayer. Mrs. Kay Hood was in charge of Mission Story and Devotions.

Correspondence was read, including an invitation to the 'Thank You' offering meeting at St. Andrew's, Kingston.

For the Ladies Aid portion of meeting, another hymn was sung and readings by Mrs. Dorothy McCullough, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Nikki Loney. Treasurer's report was very good with a substantial bank balance.

Minutes were read and approved. Roll call answered with a verse containing the word 'Thanks'.

Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Fresque, November 14.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Don MacMillan spent Thanksgiving week-end at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Paul Sevcik in Bramalea.

United Church Women hold two schools for local leaders

The Bay of Quinte 17th Annual School for Women of the United Church was different this year, different in the fact that there were two schools. The first was held at Quin-Mo-lac Camp site on Moira Lake, Sept. 8 - 10, with two hundred and fifteen in attendance. The other school, at Simcoe St. United Church in Oshawa, was held Sept. 19 - 21, with 86 attending. The theme of both was: 'Your Ministry or Ours'. The key program leaders were Mrs. B.J. Klassen and Mrs. Anne Bishop. They did a team presentation, telling their own life stories and sharing. They stressed the importance of the lay member's ministry in the Christian Fellowship. Mrs. Lynda Jewell of Cobourg led the music for both schools; her wit and love of music thrilled the ladies.

Mrs. Thea Brandma was chair-person of both planning and program. She did her part so efficiently that each one attending felt herself a part of the whole.

The young people who had been

Toting garbage is not too popular in Sophiasburgh

On page two, there's a letter to the editor from a resident in Sophiasburgh Township asking why people in that township still have to cart their garbage to a depot in Demorestville.

The garbage containers at the Demorestville depot are the only ones the whole township and it is a long way from the tip of Long Point, or just outside Picton, particularly when the roads are icy with snow and slush.

Sophiasburgh extends west almost to the airport on Highway 14, east to the Long Reach north to the Bay shore and south almost to Picton town limits.

There used to be garbage containers at various spots throughout the township but they were removed some time ago.

'We were paying for them and our own residents didn't get full value. They were being abused by out-of-the-township people,' the Scanner was informed by the township clerk's office. 'Having garbage pickup would be expensive and there would be a problem getting someone to do it.'

'Quinte Sanitation from Belleville now collects the garbage from the Demorestville depot and they are having problems deciding how to get rid of it too.'

Ameliasburgh, Hallowell, Athol and Hillier do have garbage pickup for the convenience of their residents. North Marysville has its own dump.

counsellors and leaders at the youth camps during the summer returned to share with the ladies a report on their experience; the both entertained and informed them. Their report showed that over a thousand children and youths had attended this year. They expressed appreciation for what the ladies do to help maintain the camp.

Vespers, both morning and evening, were an inspiration to all. Mrs. Marion Wellman of Omemee ably led the schools as dean. She handed over her duties to Mrs. Marjorie Ferries of Oshawa, who will be dean of next year's school.

For the first time, Bay of Quinte women have had two consecutive schools. The Oshawa school followed essentially the same program. Out-of-town ladies were billeted in the church homes of the city and its suburbs. A group of local young people, 'Christians in Action,' came and entertained the ladies, with skits and music, Wednesday evening.

Books sold at the two schools amounted to $2,000 worth. This testifies to the reading done by the ladies. It gives ground for hope that next year's schools will know an increased attendance, and that the fun, fellowship and spiritual help will continue to reach out to the end of the 'Conference'.

Waste management proposal approved

Adolphustown Council has accepted a report from the representatives to the joint committee on waste management with South Fredericksburgh Township for a one-year trial but will not be responsible for any costs exceeding $1,000 for the year.

Council also approved the agreement with North Fredericksburgh concerning winter maintenance of roads in the municipality on the north side of Hay Bay. Costs have increased to $25 an hour.

The petition for interim payment of subsidy, based on a total expenditure of $30,620.02 to September 5, will be forwarded to the Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

The revised list of electors showed the required number under the Municipal Act, so nominations will be called for the position of deputy reeve for the Township of Adolphustown and the Lennox and Addington clerk will be notified.

PRELIMINARY LIST OF ELECTORS

TOWNSHIP OF SOPHIASBURGH

Notice is hereby given that I have complied with Section 24 of The Municipal Elections Act, 1977, and that I have posted up at my office at R.R.8, Picton, on the 12th day of October, 1978 the list of all persons entitled to be electors in the municipality at municipal election, and that such list remains there for inspection.

And I hereby call upon all electors to examine the list for the purpose of making additions or corrections to or deletions from the list.

- The last day for filing applications is the 27th day of October, 1978.
- The place at which the revision will commence is the Clerk's Office
- The time at which the revision will commence is the 20th October, 1978.

Is hydro producing more electricity than Ontario needs?

IF SO, WHY ARE WE RUSHING INTO MORE AND BIGGER NUCLEAR POWER STATIONS WHEN WE DON'T EVEN KNOW HOW WE'RE GOING TO GET RID OF THE LONG TERM POISONOUS WASTE THEY PRODUCE?

IS ONTARIO GOING TO BECOME A DUMPING GROUND FOR OTHER'S WASTES ???

Ontario Hydro is certainly producing too much electricity right now for our current needs ... including the need for a reserve to meet an emergency.

In fact, we are producing so much that we're selling the surplus abroad ... bringing in what Hydro calls 'excess revenue' ... which has had to be refunded to bulk users so Hydro could stay within the Anti-Inflation Board guidelines.

Last year, Hydro's rate increase was cut back through rebates made to local public utilities because of profits from sales of reserve power to the United States. By the end of this year, $122 million of 'excess revenue' for the year 1977 will have been refunded to customers.

Next year, bulk power rates to the 344 Ontario municipal utilities will be increased by an average of 9.8% and the rates to the 100 large industries supplied directly by Ontario Hydro will rise by an average of 10.1%. But Hydro expects that 'excess revenue' will be earned again in 1978, as a consequence of unexpectedly high sales of power in the U.S. and higher than predicted performance of the nuclear generating plants. It will be rebated to customers in 1979 following the same method that is being used this year.

WHY DOES ONTARIO HYDRO HAVE THIS SURPLUS ENERGY TO SELL OUTSIDE THE PROVINCE?

Ontario Hydro's job is to provide for the Province's needs ... at the best cost to the Ontario consumer.

Hydro's mandate excludes them from producing power for export on a firm contract basis. Power sold is on the stipulation that, if Ontario needs it, the power can be cut off.

Forecasting future needs is not a simple matter. At times in the past Ontario Hydro has had to get extra power from the United States or from another province.

But it would appear that Ontario Hydro's forecasts were highly overrated.

Back last February, Ontario Hydro's board of directors ordered a review of the utility's construction program in light of the latest forecast which indicated a lower-than-expected growth.

The decline in the forecast was based on a combination of three factors, which became apparent, according to Hydro, when actual 1977 power use figures were calculated. The factors were the impact of electricity rate increases, the effect of conservation efforts by power users, and the economic climate.

The purpose of the review of the construction program, set up in February, was to weigh the financial effects of cancelling or postponing any project, the effect of improvements in the economy and the advantages of keeping the present construction program on schedule and deferring future projects.

But, it was made clear in press releases back in February when the review was implemented, that the new forecast does not affect Hydro's need for the uranium to be provided under the contracts which were at that time being reviewed by the Select Committee of the Ontario Legislature.

Last week, Douglas Gordon, Hydro's president, announced that, in view of the reduced demand for electricity,

Ontario Hydro will save more than $20 million over the next five years by placing six generating units in reserve.

None of them were nuclear generating units.

COMMITTED TO NUCLEAR

'Ontario is committed to a path of nuclear energy generation,' Ontario's Energy Minister Reuben Baetz told the Canadian Nuclear Association on June 13th of this year. (He is no longer the Minister of Energy.)

'When Darlington comes on stream by 1987, we will probably be getting about 65% of our generated electric power from nuclear energy.'

'In Pickering, we have one of the finest, if not the finest, nuclear generating stations in the world. We are confident that those under construction will be equally successful.'

'I would like to mention here that one of the chief characteristics of the pioneering stage has been the concern over our ability to produce an adequate supply of heavy water at a reasonable cost... I think today we can state with a good deal of assurance that the overriding concern about our ability to produce sufficient heavy water during the pioneering period is over. Indeed our problem is more likely to be one of overproduction.'

Deseronto's old theatre still attracting artistic visitors

Peter Large sketches the old Naylor Theatre while his wife Mary Jane photographs the building. Sketches and photos will be used during the winter as models for water colours

Back in Deseronto's heyday, before the turn of the century, there was a lively social life in the town.

People looking for entertainment had their choice of the Canoe and Boating Club, cricket clubs, concerts in the bandshell in the park on Friday nights, excursions on the steamers plying the waters of the Bay of Quinte.

Naylor's Theatre, now crumbling at the corner of Main and Prince Streets, is a nostalgic reminder of those happy times.

'In the matter of public amusements, Deseronto is as well provided for as most towns of its size,' the Deseronto Tribune of 1894 reported.

'Naylor's Opera House, opened a few years ago, is a popular resort, where the leading travelling companies appear on their tours of the Province.'

The signs still legible on the outer walls tell their tale of changes throughout the years ... the demise of vaudeville and the coming of the moving pictures.

The building has not been used for years, but it is still attracting visitors interested in its construction and its building features.

The beautiful brickwork around the arched doors and windows and the faces looking out from the bricks, are bound to catch the attention of tourists interested in architectural history and the eye of the artist.

Last week, Peter and Mary-Jane Large, of 190 Glenrose Avenue in Toronto, were captivated by the building's exterior.

Mr. Large is an artist (when he has time) and spends his holidays travelling around to find places like the Naylor Theatre to capture with his sketching pad and pencil. He uses the sketches as a base for painting water colours at his leisure, later on.

His wife takes the photographs of the buildings to complement his sketches.

Deseronto council, PUC in by acclamation

Deseronto is not going to have a municipal election this time around ... there were just enough nominations to fill the slate.

And a lot of old faces will be back in the council chambers, although there will be some shifting around the table.

Mayor John Neal will be in his accustomed spot but Deputy Reeve B. Johnston will move up to reeve and Councillor Dave Martin will move into the Deputy spot.

Present Reeve, Roger Cole will be serving as a councillor, along with present councillors Clarence Zieman and A. Blayney.

There are three new council members, Mrs. Lena Cummings of Mill Street, Bill Higgins of Green Street and Bob Graydon who lives outside the municipality but qualifies because his law office here makes him a tenant in the municipality.

There will be one new face at the Public Utilities Commission meetings, continued on page 11

What are your youngsters wearing for their tricking or treating next Tuesday night?...Something light coloured so they can be seen by drivers??? Well-fitting masks so they can see where they are going???

Hallowe'en safety begins with a 'be seen' costume, and the Ontario Association of Optometrists is advising parents to add an edge of safety by retro-reflective materials, sewn or ironed on to clothes. The materials can be used for making patterns, back, front and sides, so the kids really show up in the headlights of approaching cars.

'I didn't see him in time,' is the most common explanation given by drivers hitting pedestrians, particularly when a driver's view is limited to the length of the headlight beam. Children in dark clothing are the most susceptible to such accidents.

The other side of Hallowe'en safety is to see safely. Poorly fitted masks which can easily slip out of position, or those with small eye slits, are potentially dangerous because they can block the child's view of oncoming cars, objects in the path, a hole, a step, or the edge of the curb.

Make-up is safer than a mask. With make-up, the child has a normal field of vision and is less likely to have an accident because of not seeing something ahead or to the side. But optometrists caution that the make-up should be of the nonallergic type and should be carefully applied, by an adult, to avoid getting particles or applicators in a child's eyes.

Well folks, here I go again. Mind you I don't know when you'll get to read this deathly prose, what with the mail strike and all.

Can't ever recall a strike like this. Nobody that I've talked to has any sympathy with the posties at all, usually there's at least a few folks can see what they're complaining about. But not this time. Everybody seems real hostile. All the businessmen are screaming blue murder, and I can see their point. Don't seem right that an essential service like the mail should be cut off for no good reason. Mind you, no mail just means no bills as far as me and Elma is concerned. Don't make too much difference for us, excepting to make us feel a bit richer for a while.

So, sitting here, observing like, seems to me to be a bit like bird watching. The government is making all kinds of noise but they're like them shag pokes, all feathers and no meat nor guts. And them union boys is just like sea gulls. If I'm they ain't screaming they're shitting.

Reckon this might be a good time to do away with the whole post office. Reckon they'd be further ahead to go back to the old pony express. Sure would be faster any road. My neighbour down the way, him with the English wife, got three letters on the same day about a month ago. One were from Kingston, one from Montreal and one from his wife's folks over in the old country. The letter from Kingston had took five days to get to him, the one from Montreal three weeks, and the one from England forty-eight hours. Now that makes you wonder, don't it. Sure don't seem like efficiency to me.

Anyways, looks as if the strike'll be over soon, and we can concentrate on our troubles closer to home. This here election is bound to provide us with some entertainment.

Quinte News Round Up

LOOKING FOR HEAD

The Prince Edward County Museum needs a new director, following the resignation in August of Arlene Alyea. She was the fourth director in the five year history of the museum.

County council is now looking for a new person to head up the museum, with joint responsibilities at Macauley House, duties to start at the new year.

ANOTHER HONOUR

The Stanhope Gold Medal, which is awarded annually for acts of outstanding courage by the Royal Humane Society of Great Britain, will be given to Randy Davey, 19 of R.R. 4, Napanee, by Ontario's Lt. Gov. Hon.

Pauline McGibbon in Toronto on October 31.

Mr. Davey was decorated earlier this year by Governor General Jules Léger for his bravery in saving the lives of five people in a burning Pictou apartment building. He spent many months in hospital undergoing skin grafts.

LESS BOOKS OUT

During August, less books were taken out at the Napanee and Amherstview branches of the Lennox and Addington County library system. Napanee dropped to 4,706 from 5,054 the year before and Amherstview to 3,009 from 3,531.

But the Camden East branch showed a marked increase ... 396 compared with only 290 last year.

FIVE COUNCIL CONTESTANTS

Sophsburgh Township will have the same reeve (George Foster) and Deputy Reeve (Eleanor Lindsay) for another two years, but there may be some council changes.

Five people are contesting the three council seats — present councillors B. Doxie, G. Tripp and Paul Aman, and Arnold Devries and Max MacDonald.

John Huskisson will be school board representative.

Will Ontario become nuclear waste dump?

'Let me say very simply that I am convinced that Ontario Hydro can produce heavy water as efficiently, that is, as cheaply as anyone in the world; and I think it makes good sense for the nation to take advantage of the expertise that has been developed.'

'Let me also say categorically that we will not stand idly by and allow ourselves to be finessed out of the export market.'

Pretty clear, isn't it? We produce more than we need and we export it ... and we get stuck with the nuclear waste.

Mr. Baetz did admit in his talk to the Canadian Nuclear Association that there was a problem about disposing of the waste ... The one remaining area still to be researched and demonstrated is the permanent repository of irradiated material. The process for this is now in development.

And he gave this timetable, jointly agreed on by his Ministry and the Federal Government. 1978, geological survey work and experimental drilling at AECL sites; 1979-80, concept verification and field drilling; 1981-1983, site selection for demonstration repository; 1983, site acquisition; 1985-2000, pilot disposal demonstration; 2,000 and beyond, full-scale facilities operational.

There's no more guarantee that they'll be able to come up with a permanent solution for disposing of the waste than there was that King Canute could stop the waves just by ordering it.

And, another 'comforting' remark made by the Minister at that time, we may be taking other peoples' junk too ... 'At this point we have not made any commitment to allow irradiated fuel from other provinces being deposited in Ontario ... that doesn't mean we have excluded future agreements in these areas.'

Most personal self-improvement courses are legitimate, but...

you should know what Ontario is doing to help you recognize the few that are not.

Teaching people to improve themselves is big business these days. While such courses and techniques can have a positive influence on your social life and well-being they can also be used to cheat and exploit.

Self-improvement courses involving long periods of time and large amounts of money should include a contract for you to sign.

Ideally, the contract is to protect you by setting out the exact money to be paid and the services to be provided.

So before signing a contract make sure your interests are protected.

Beware the Dream Merchant!

Your Ontario Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations has published an easy-to-understand information bulletin which:

- describes some of the dishonest schemes;
- tells you how to recognize them;
- advises what your rights are under The Business Practices Act and The Consumer Protection Act;

- spells out details that should be included in every contract you sign;
- gives advice on how to deal with payments for self-improvement and mail order offers.

Province of Ontario

'Homestead Norah', a beautifully marked Nubian doe, owned by Mrs. Roberta Alexander, and shown here by Mrs. Janet Prest (both of Shannonville), was one of the province's top goats offered at auction in the Ontario Dairy Goat Society's 4th Annual Starlight Sale. The event, held in Belleville, Saturday, October 21 1978, drew a good crowd from across Ontario. Sales of the does, mostly exhibit champions moved quickly at prices ranging from $285 to $875.

'Better off with smaller plant,' Blayney suggests

'Maybe Deseronto would have been better off to build a smaller water plant and add to it later,' Councillor A. Blayney commented at Monday night's meeting of council.

In reply to a request in writing from Deseronto Council to the Ministry of the Environment for information about the capacity of the water plant, MOE has provided these statistics.

The water plant was designed to pump 650,000 gallons per day. But it can pump up to 700,000 to 800,000 gallons if needed.

If the Provincial average of 125 gallons per day per capita is applied to the Deseronto plant, then it can handle a population of 5,200.

Using an average of 200 gallons per capita per day, the plant can handle a population of 3,250.

Using an average of 300 gallons a day per capita (which is considered extremely high), the plant can handle a population of 2,170.

The plant was designed so that an additional tank, carbon filter etc. could be added in the future which would double the present capacity.

Library Notes

There will be a puppet show at the library at 4 p.m. Saturday October 28. Two plays will be presented, 'The Foolish Man' and 'A Spouse for Susie Mouse'. Send your little ones and come yourselves; parents are allowed to have fun too.

For your reading enjoyment, the library offers the new books 'Margaret the Tragic Princess', a biographical work. There is the suspense novel 'The Big Puddle' and the new bestseller 'The Women's Room'. As the days turn cold, let 'The Violins of St. Jacques' spirit you away to a West Indian island.

The Sci-Fi buffs will be interested in 'Rocketship' an examination of science fact and fiction. This book is for both kids and adults.

Hallowe'en is coming and the library has some new thrillers for the juniors; 'The Secret of Terror Castle', 'The Mystery of the Laughing Shadow' and Alfred Hitchcock's 'Thirteen More Stories They Wouldn't Let Me Do On T.V.'

BAHA' FAITHQUESTION:

Did Baha'U'llah leave a successor?

ANSWER:

Baha'U'llah left a Will and Testament in which He appointed His eldest son, Abdu'l-Baha as the interpreter of His teachings and the Exemplar of His Faith.

Abdu'l-Baha He said, was the one to whom all should turn for instructions and guidance. Abdu'l-Baha was the close companion and constant helper of His father, whose suffering He shared. He remained a prisoner until 1908. Afterwards He made extensive teaching trips to Africa, Europe, and America directing the activities of the followers of His father's Faith throughout the world. He passed away in Haifa, Israel, in 1921, mourned by people of all Faiths.

The president of Stanford University, Dr. David Starr Jordan, said of Abdu'l-Baha, 'He will surely unite the east and the west, for he walks the mystic path with practical feet.'

Farmers may overlook need for insurance

Many farmers overlook the fact that the most valuable assets on their farm — themselves — are not adequately insured. They fail to weigh the effect of their absence on the farm's viability.

The Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario warn that in many cases of a farmer's early death, the survivors have little option but to sell out, since the typical farm has little cash and a lot of short-term debt, and the farmer's wife and young children have no financial credibility.

There are an increasing number of group life insurance schemes becoming available, including ones that can be purchased through such agencies as the Ontario Milk Marketing Board. Any young farmer interested in ensuring his farm's continuity should examine these closely.

A typical situation where insurance is almost a necessity is where two brothers own and operate a farm. The farm is worth, say $400,000, minus $100,000 debt. Each brother thus has a stake of $150,000.

If one dies, the survivor not only loses his brother and partner, but he loses half of the labor that has been operating the farm. He now has a non-working estate as a partner, and little chance of putting together $150,000 to buy out the other half of the partnership.

As well, his brother's widow is not able to do the work her husband did, and has no money to hire someone to do that work.

In such cases, a group insurance policy that each partner holds on the other provides a reasonably inexpensive way of allowing the surviving partner and the widow to go through an orderly transfer of the farm's ownership.

A farmer's age has much to do with the amount of insurance he will need. If a farmer's children are in their early teen years when he dies, his wife will probably need to spend $14,000 a year for the next 10 years on experienced labour to keep the farm operating about the income you might expect from a $100,000 policy.

At the end of those 10 years, the wife and children at least still have the option of deciding whether they want to continue farming, or to sell the property.

Without that protection, they have no option at all.

The County Cupboard spills the beans

'People have been making simple unripened cheeses for at least 6,000 years. References to cheese have been found in Sumerian cuneiform tablets of 4,000 B.C., and simple juice cheese pots — bowls with holes punched in the bottoms, through which the whey could drain — have been found in ancient Egyptian tombs, as well as in later Bronze Age excavations throughout the Mediterranean lands.'

No one has ever been able to count the number of kinds of cheeses in the world and Canadians are just now beginning to discover the delights of these specialty cheeses.

Loyal Canadians will sometimes reply to suggestions that they sample a new cheese by objecting that 'there's nothing like good old Canadian cheddar.'

There is also no doubt that a fresh Ontario Macintosh apple is hard to beat, yet we vary our fruit diet with the inclusion of oranges, bananas, peaches, etc.

Cheeses can vary as much one from the other as a crunchy juicy apple is different from a soft juiceless banana, or they can be as closely related as a Macintosh is to a Spy apple. Only sampling and familiarization with cheeses other than cheddar will determine whether you like or could learn to like a new cheese.

When you arrive home with your newly purchased cheese, remove it from the brown paper and wrap it carefully in Saran Wrap to exclude air bubbles, and keep it in the refrigerator.

Always remove cheese from the refrigerator at least an hour before serving; the full flavour will not be released when the cheese is cold.

Never throw out a piece of cheese. If your family doesn't like it or it dried out forgotten in a corner of the frig, this piece of cheese can be crumbled or grated and (1) added to the cheddar in your next macaroni dish, (2) mixed with sautéed chopped onion and used as an omelet filling, (3) sprinkled on pizza, on steaming bowls of hot soup, on open-faced sandwiches to be broiled, on cooked vegetables before serving, or (4) best of all, start your own Everlasting or Potted Cheese.

Everlasting Cheese

Leftover cheese, grated or shredded, 2 cups
Olive or vegetable oil, 2 tbsps
Cognac (or a good brandy) 2 tbsps
Butter (or cream cheese) 2 to 4 tbsps — Combine ingredients and beat until smooth. Age at least two days before serving.

— Continue to add more leftover cheese as needed and, if mixture becomes too firm, a little more cognac.

This mixture will keep in refrigerator indefinitely and improves vastly with age. Remove from refrigerator at least one hour before serving.

Swedish Potted Cheese

Leftover cheese, 1½ to 2 cups
Butter, softened, 2 tbsps
Cayenne pepper, dash
Caraway seeds, 1 tsp
Beer or ale, 1 to 2 tbsps
Pimiento, minced, 2 tbsps (optional)

— Beat together by hand or in blender all ingredients until smooth.

Age in a covered jar or crock in the refrigerator, at least two days. Bring to room temperature before serving.

Sophiasburgh seniors elect new officers

The Sophiasburgh Over Sixty-Club met for a Potluck Supper at the Christian Education Centre, Demorestville on October 3.

After the supper which was enjoyed by all, the meeting was opened by Pres. Reg Ruskin. The singing of Oh Canada with Marjorie Hackett at the piano was followed by the Lord's Prayer. Guests for the evening were Mr. & Mrs. Ellis Blair of Bloomfield. Mr. Blair is an executive member of the U.S.C.O.

Mr. Blair spoke on a few ways in which they are trying to help the Seniors and also how important it is to be a Star member. Minutes and Treasurer's report were read and adopted.

Ellen Watson, chairlady for crafts, reported a very successful Tea and Bazaar held on Sept. 27th.

Reg Ruskin then declared all offices vacant and Mr. Ellis Blair was asked to conduct the election of Officers. Bill Watson acted as Secretary for elections also.

Following is the new slate of Officers: Pres., Kay Ruskin; 1st Vice Pres., Murney Lindsay; Secretary, Mary Sallans; Treasurer, Reg Ruskin.

Following the election, Mr. Blair conducted the Installation of Officers.

Motion to adjourn at 8:30. Mr. Blair showed very interesting slides of their trip through Nevada and Arizona, enjoyed by everyone. Four new members were received. A bus trip was discussed and nothing decided. Murney Lindsay and Kay Ruskin were to get more information and then call an executive meeting to decide.

There's more to helping out with minor hockey than coaching the teams. Flo McAllister took on the job of sewing numbers on 18 shirts for the Atoms. Last year, the numbers were ironed on and they didn't hold. Flo is the wife of Tom McAllister, one of the Atom coaches. Their other coach is Jim Dobbin.

Deseronto's Minor Hockey season back in full swing

Pee Wees drop both ends of Double Header.

Deseronto Pee Wees, sponsored by the Deseronto Legion, lost games against Ernestown Pee Wees on the weekend by 8 to 2 and 5 to 1 scores. The first game was played at the Deseronto and District Community Centre on Saturday night and was a complete rout with Ernestown scoring 3 times in the first, four times in the second and twice in the third. The locals were a bit scrambly, but big on heart. Both Deseronto goals came on solo efforts, from Kyle Brant in the second period and Toody John in the third.

On Sunday the locals travelled to Ernestown and again lost, this time by 5 to 1. Bobby Thompson scored the lone Deseronto goal.

The next game for the Pee Wees will be in Napanee on October 27, and the next home game will be against Gananoque on November 4th.

O.M.H.A. Bantams dumped by Gan

Gananoque Bantams invaded Deseronto's rink on Sunday afternoon, October 22nd and filled the Grant Insurance Bantams with pucks and goals, scoring 10 times against Shawn Doyle in nets for Deseronto. No one kept track of shots on net though, but it would prove that Shawn had a very busy Sunday afternoon. With the entry of teams like Gananoque and Ernestown into the league, our locals are going to have their work cut out for them in the coming season.

Chris Brant assisted on both Deseronto's goals, setting up first Carl Vance and then Doug McMechan. The goals were scored in a 39 second span of the first period and provided almost the only bright spot in the game for Deseronto.

So for Wilfred French and Clarence Zieman it's back to the drawing board for the next game which will be against Napanee on Sunday, October 29 at 3:30

Van Vlack Atoms defeat Ernestown Lions

The Deseronto Van Vlack Market Atoms started off their season with a hard fought 5 to 4 victory over the Ernestown Lions on October 21.

Deseronto opened up the scoring in the first period when Bobby Thompson scored an unassisted goal. Ernestown came back with two, from Mike Dillman and Jeff Froats before Kevin Hill managed to tie it up on a play from Scott Davis and Mike Van Vlack. Ernestown again went ahead 3 to 2, but Mike Van Vlack clicked from Kevin Hill with just 48 seconds remaining in the period to end the first period even, 3 to 3.

Each team scored once in the second, with Deseronto's goal coming off Bobby Thompson's stick on a pass from Rick Marlow.

The third period was very hotly contested, and the winning goal came unassisted from Shain Smith while Ernestown was serving a tripping penalty. It was a good start for a long Atom season.

Deseronto Midgets Bombed

The Gananoque Midgets were hosted by the Reid-Sutcliffe Deseronto Midgets on Saturday October 21, and bombarded goal tenders Alan Brant and Bob Gordanier for 9 goals, and allowed only two first period replies by Deseronto. Deseronto picked up 32 minutes in penalties during the game with Gan receiving 20 minutes.

Rob O'Brien started the locals off in the first period on a set-up from Leonard Farrell, and Cory Vick scored unassisted in the dying minutes of the first after Gan had scored twice to have the period end 2 to 2.

Gan came back in the second with two unanswered goals and rapped in 5 more in the penalty-filled third to end up the match 9 to 2.

The Midgets play again Tuesday night in Godfrey, and their next home game in on October 28 at 7:00 p.m. against Picton.

Mohawk language is 'soft whispering' English sounds like 'cats fighting'

What does the English language sound like, to a person who speaks only Mohawk?

"It sounds like cats fighting ... a howling, high-pitched language," said one old lady when questioned by David Maracle, who is teaching a Mohawk language course two evenings a week at the school on the Tyendinaga Reserve.

"The Mohawk language is soft ... almost a whispering," he said.

"One of the hardest things to do in the language is to yell and it's funny to hear someone who is upset about something."

Speaking Mohawk doesn't take much lip effort, he explained. At a distance it is difficult to guess whether people in a group are talking.

But, if someone is speaking to a crowd and wants to be heard, part of the words are emphasized and that makes the volume go up and down.

"The old time prayers were all done in song," he said, "like a church chant. And it is pretty to listen to."

The language uses 15 letters in its alphabet: a, b, e, g, h, i, k, m, n, o, r, s, t, w and y. Several other sounds are made by combining two consonants, for example the WH is HW. The F is FH and the JH is HW.

"There are many words in the vocabulary," Mr. Maracle said, "not as many as the total number in the English vocabulary but as many as the English words in common use."

"And there are about five times as many verbs. Where English uses the verb jump with jump over, or jump back, or jump from, the Mohawk will have a separate verb for each of the actions."

It also incorporates nouns to make new verbs. Instead of saying, I have a book, there is a verb for I book have."

David's pupils in the night courses range from age 11 to 50. Some of the children already have some knowledge of the Mohawk language.

About 50% of the older people on the reserve know the Mohawk language," he said. "Over a hundred of the people on the reserve can use the language."

The course sessions are held from 7 to 9 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

"It's a shame the way they are letting all these old buildings disappear," he said.

The Larges had not known about the Naylor Theatre in advance ... they just happened on it when they were passing through.

The old theatre does have at least one inhabitant now. On the morning the Larges visited town, an old striped cat was sunning itself on a windowsill but disappeared into the interior through a broken window as strangers approached.

Some strange faces on town council

Ray Bint of Thomas Street. Present Chairman Freda Vick will be serving on the commission for another term and Mayor John Neal sits on the commission too.

There may be an election for the representative on the Hastings County Board of Education. Carman Milligan, Deseronto's clerk-treasurer told the Scanner on Tuesday that he would not know until Wednesday whether the position would be contested. Deseronto shares the one representative with a number of other municipalities.

And there probably will be a vote about fluoridation in Deseronto. Notification of this vote has already been given the required three advertisements in the local paper and the Deseronto Council, at Monday night's meeting, did not rescind its previous motion to have the vote.

'If the only vote is about fluoridation, it would be a waste of money to have the usual four polling places in town,' Mr. Milligan said. 'Likely there would just be one polling place.'

Most of the 12 people who might have been looking forward to acting as one of the three people at each of the four polls will be out of luck, as far as having a day's work is concerned.

HAPPENINGS

Week-end visitors of Mrs. Lottie Anderson were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Robertson of Carstairs, Alberta.

Mrs. Jean Miller of Belleville was also a Sunday dinner guest of Mrs. Anderson.

Sorry to hear that Mrs. Beryl Herman is a patient in the Lennox and Addington Hospital.

Mrs. Fern Cole was please to have been visited recently by her grandson Scott Knapp. Scott had just completed the 4 month Canadian Professional Golf Tour. He is now participating in the Pro Golf Tours in Australia and New Zealand.

Deseronto Council Briefs

- Deseronto Council, at Monday night's meeting, passed the by-law concerning the town's agreement with the PUC. The by-law includes amendments requested by the PUC.
- The Finance Committee reported that the town was well within its budget and Town Clerk Carman Milligan said 'Things appear to be on target.'
- One more OHRP loan application was approved.
- Deputy Reeve B. Johnston reported that the new storm sewer system from Park to Main Streets had been completed and it was hoped to start on Mill Street this week or next. Hopefully the paving on Mill street will be finished this week.
- A complaint from the Deseronto Businessmen's Association, that the two-hour parking limit was not being enforced on Main Street was discussed. Police Chief, N. Clark will be enforcing the by-law now that some parking signs have been replaced on the street.
- Councillor C. Zieman told Council that the by-law being used by Bud Meeks, animal control officer, was not valid in court. There is a discrepancy in the by-law. Council is waiting for a document from Belleville before discussing this further.

- Royal Canadian Legion Branch 280 was given permission to conduct an annual Poppy Day Campaign on Friday afternoon, November 3 and Saturday November 4.
- 'It seems like a strongly-worded document,' was Reeve Roger Cole's comment on a resolution passed by the County of Lennox and Addington concerning financial restraints on library spending. Deseronto Council had been asked to endorse the resolution. It was turned over to the library board for recommendations.
- Council felt that because of low input, the preliminary report on housing needs was not a true picture of the situation in town. Another meeting is to be held with the Municipal Housing Consultants when the consultants will present some policy statements for council's approval.
